

McCarthy Links His Own Fate To That Of Nation

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON (AP)—The speech which Sen. McCarthy prepared for the Senate today—in his own defense against censure—goes far beyond anything he has ever said or claimed before.

This speech, which he released late Tuesday, is a basic restatement of his attitude and the tactics toward criticism of himself over the past four years. History may remember it as an extraordinary document.

Persecution Suggested
The speech goes so far in its implications it is difficult to believe McCarthy can surpass it; he holds himself and those who go along with him as the country's chief defenders against communism and links the fate of the nation to his own fate.

Without using the word "martry," he clearly suggests he is a man persecuted.

Senate debate begins today on recommendations of a special committee created to consider charges of misconduct against McCarthy. This committee of three Democrats and three Republicans was headed by Sen. Watkins (R-Utah).

It investigated, held hearings, let McCarthy reply to the charges and recommended that the full Senate censure him on two counts.

At that he ignored requests to testify made upon him by a previous committee which investigated him and B that he treated Brig. Gen. Ralph W. Zwicker abusively.

Charges Called Petty
The first count termed contemptuous his treatment of the earlier committee. The second said, in effect, he had acted like a bully toward the general. On both counts the Watkins committee considered his conduct unfit for a senator.

This is how McCarthy reasoned in his speech:

He brushed aside as inconsequential the Watkins' committee charges, the same attitude he has taken toward all previous charges. "Petty," he called them.

Censuring him would be a victory for the Communists who want to destroy him, he said. He described himself as "hard," on communism and those opposing him as "soft" on communism. Who are they? In this group, which he called "ruthless," he included radio commentators, educators, writers, a majority of the press.

Earlier this week he had said the attacks on him had "emanated" from the White House.

Letter Designations On Auto Tags Are Shuffled For 1955
LANSING (AP)—County letter designations on Michigan auto license plates will be reshuffled in 1955.

Sec. of State Owen J. Cleary said the shift, the first major change in 15 years, was made necessary because of growth and shifts in the state population that had caused some counties to run out of designations.

Registration officials said the new letters might cause some confusion among those who were able to spot counties by recognizing the letters. But they said drivers should soon learn to distinguish their own neighboring county designations.

Photo Plane Downed By Reds Could Have Had Fighter Escort

By ELTON C. FAY
WASHINGTON (AP)—Pentagon officials professed puzzlement today over why a jet fighter escort did not go along with a photo bomber shot down by Soviet MiGs off northern Japan last weekend.

Spokesmen said the Far East Command long has had authority to provide "cover" for mapping and weather planes on missions where trouble could arise. Such escorts are used frequently, they added.

Hunters Advised To Avoid Traffic Jam At Straits

LANSING (AP)—Deer hunters going into the Upper Peninsula were advised by the State Highway Department to start north Thursday to avoid a jam at the Straits of Mackinac.

Commissioner Charles M. Ziegler said the state ferries can handle the hunter traffic without long waits if it is spread over the next three days. But long lines will result, he said, if the hunters pile up at Mackinaw City Friday and Saturday.

Ziegler said traffic will be at its peak from Friday noon through Saturday night. The hunting season opens Monday.

The department will operate five ferries while traffic is heavy. They will leave Mackinaw City every 20 minutes day and night. A special crew will work the docks to speed traffic.

The department said it will use again its previous system of issuing tickets to hunters arriving on US-23, US-27 and US-31, thus insuring a fair rotation of loading from the three routes.

An additional 48 state policemen will be on hand in the Upper and Lower Peninsulas this weekend to handle the droves of deer hunters driving north for the opening of the season.

State Police Headquarters said a detail of 14 men would be stationed at Mackinaw City to handle traffic waiting to cross the straits.

State Police warned drivers to be especially careful on US Highways 27, 131, 10, and 23, which carry the bulk of the deer hunter traffic.

Some 400,000 hunters are expected this year.

Censure Session Of Senate Opens

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate gets down to business today on the issue of rebuking Sen. McCarthy with the Wisconsin Republican himself predicting "I will be censured."

Sen. Watkins (R-Utah) was ready to lead off debate with a speech urging his colleagues to support the recommendation by his special six-man committee that McCarthy be censured for his attitude toward a Senate elections subcommittee and his treatment of Brig. Gen. Ralph W. Zwicker.

McCarthy assailed the Watkins committee as the "unwitting handmaiden of the Communist party."

McCarthy also described himself in a speech prepared for Senate delivery today but released late Tuesday as "the symbol of resistance to subversion" and declared that "the nation's fate is in some respects tied" to his own.

As for the censure charges contained in a revised resolution offered by the Watkins committee, McCarthy said they are "even more ridiculous" than the committee's critical report on its investigation of his activities.

"It is even less in line with the facts than the report was," he told newsmen in advance of the Senate session.

Chinese On Formosa To Invade Mainland
TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—Vice President Chen Cheng declared Tuesday the zero hour for a Nationalist invasion of the Red mainland is drawing near. He told a group of overseas Chinese: "It has never been the government's intention to continue remaining idly at ease on this island."

But military sources said they were unable to explain why jet fighters did not accompany the RB29 assigned to an aerial mapping job over northern Japan, close to Russian-held Sakhalin Island and the Kuriles. Fighter protection subsequently was provided for a second photo bomber which completed the mission.

Eleven men parachuted from the stricken ship. Ten lived, but one man became entangled in his chute and drowned. The United States has demanded reparations from the Russians, but the Soviet Union has fired back a countercharge that the Red planes were fired upon first. The U.S. fliers have denied they fired at any time.

Secretary of State Dulles told a news conference Tuesday he believed the Joint Chiefs of Staff were considering whether to authorize fighter escort for mapping and weather planes.

Pentagon spokesmen said Gen. John Hull, top U. S. commander in the Far East, already had such authority.

Democrats Have Little Hope For Income Tax Cuts

By CHARLES F. BARRETT
WASHINGTON (AP)—Key Democrats who led a futile fight earlier this year for a big individual income tax cut held out little hope today for any substantial taxpayer relief in 1955, even though the Democratic party will control Congress.

They indicated a less favorable budget situation may postpone a new individual income tax cut until 1956, or at best permit a smaller cut than they advocated in the past congressional session.

All 10 holdover Democrats on the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee were polled for their views on a possible individual income tax cut next year.

Of the nine who replied, five voiced doubts about the prospects for such a cut, three declined to make any forecast and only Rep. Dingell (D-Mich.) said the outlook was bright. Dingell on Monday announced he will introduce a bill early in the new Congress to boost individual exemptions for each taxpayer and dependent by $100.

The present exemption is $600. When the Democrats tried unsuccessfully to tack a similar provision to a big tax revision bill earlier this year, all 10 Ways and Means Committee Democrats supported the move.

Democrats used the tax issue in the recent political campaign, declaring a tax revision program sponsored by Republicans provided hefty tax cuts for corporations and wealthy persons, but did not give enough help to the average taxpayer. Dingell's bill would repeal a section of the new tax law providing relief to stockholders on their dividend income.

Commenting on the fresh individual income tax cut proposals, Rep. Eberhart (D-Pa.) said: "I doubt if it can be done. We have to face the probability of a higher deficit."

Rep. Boggs (D-La.), who first proposed the individual exemption increase this year, said he would like to hope for lower income taxes in 1955, but that "it depends largely on the fiscal outlook, which is not too bright now."

En route the Columbine will land briefly to pick up the President's grandchildren—David, 6, Barbara Anne, 5, and Susan, 2—and their parents, Maj. and Mrs. John Eisenhower.

The museum at Abilene was built by the Eisenhower Foundation, which was organized by friends of the family in 1945 "to promote citizenship and honor veterans of American wars." The President and his family deeded the boyhood home and the grounds to the foundation, which has acquired more land. The President has given the foundation a major part of his collection of mementoes, trophies and medals.

The chief executive will leave Abilene Thursday afternoon to fly to Toledo, then drive about 25 miles to a Lake Erie retreat—the Cedar Club—for a round of duck hunting all day Friday and Saturday morning. He will be the guest there of Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey.

Mrs. Eisenhower will return to Washington Thursday and the President Saturday.

Village Mayor Tells How Sheppard Acted After Wife's Murder

By RALEIGH ALLSBROOK
CLEVELAND (AP)—The mayor of Bay Village disclosed today he once urged Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard, his close friend, to confess he murdered his wife "if by any chance" he did it.

Sheppard refused, he said, declaring he "couldn't have done it." Mayor J. Spencer Houk made this statement on the witness stand before a jury trying the osteopath for the bludgeoned murder of his wife, Marilyn. Sheppard claims a bushy haired burglar killed Marilyn.

Drops In At Office
Houk was recounting how the handsome osteopath dropped in to his City Hall office on July 21, the day before an inquest into Marilyn's death started.

The mayor testified: "Sam came into the office and sat down. Actually, I started the conversation."

"I appealed to him, 'Sam, if by any chance you did do this, come out and say so.'"

"Sam replied he couldn't have done it, and he hadn't done it, and shortly thereafter got up to leave."

Houk also told of another visit to his City Hall office by Sheppard and his osteopath brother, Dr. Stephen Sheppard, just 10 days after Marilyn was found murdered in her bed July 4.

Psychiatrist Has Theory
This time, he said, Steve and Sam discussed with him a psychiatrist's theory that a crazy man—a schizophrenic—may have killed Marilyn.

Huge Iwo Jima Statue Dedicated

By HERB ALTSCHULL
WASHINGTON (AP)—Gen. Lemuel Shepherd Jr. dedicated today a massive statue honoring the U. S. Marine Corps, and called it not "just a monument to the departed past," a graphic message to the future.

Shepherd, the Marine commandant, dedicated the 75-foot reproduction of the historic flag raising on Iwo Jima on this 179th anniversary of creation of the Marines as a fighting force.

President Eisenhower headed the list of distinguished guests invited to witness dedication of the monument.

"May it stand for ages yet to come as a symbol of American courage and determination, of indestructible faith, and of unity of purpose," Shepherd said.

Nine years in the making, the giant statue of the six men who raised the flag on Iwo Jima's Mt. Suribachi is the handiwork of Felix de Weldon, Austrian-born sculptor who began working on it while serving in the Navy in 1945.

Alleged Arizona Killer Acquitted

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—William E. Demand, 35, was freed of a first-degree murder charge Tuesday night by a Superior Court jury that deliberated just 1 hour and 24 minutes.

Demand had been charged with the fatal shooting last July 27, of Vernon Donn (Jim) Frederick, 38, his next-door neighbor and long-time friend.

The defense held that Demand was at home asleep when Frederick was shot, that Frederick, a Scottsdale city councilman, was a philanderer and could have been killed by any number of jealous men.

The state contended Demand was jealous of Frederick's attentions to his wife Faye and shot Frederick while intoxicated. Mrs. Demand drove her car into an irrigation canal and drowned shortly after the slaying.

Democrats Make Plans To Take Over In Lansing

Gov. Williams Talks Patronage With His New Cabinet
LANSING (AP)—Gov. Williams will assemble his new all-Democratic cabinet-elect tomorrow for a full day of strategy and patronage discussions.

It will be the first get-together for all since the Nov. 2 General Election in which the Democrats swept the entire state ticket. All the new officials will take office Jan. 1.

Williams told reporters he would discuss with his team the possibility of reorganizing a number of major state offices which they will control.

"It seems to me," he said, "that this is an ideal time to take up the matter of reorganization because we will have all new state officers. In the past it has been difficult because there always were men who overlapped from one administration to another and whose toes would be stepped on if any changes were made."

Changes Considered
Williams said he had not considered exactly what reorganizations might be attempted.

"It seems to me there are several services in the secretary of state's office, like the building and loan supervision, which ought to be in the treasurer's office, and things like that," he said.

The governor said he hoped to go over his program for the 1955 legislature with the new cabinet.

Asked whether the group would discuss patronage matters, Williams said "yes, although not quite in the sense of patronage. We will want to talk over putting together an efficient and smooth-working organization in these departments."

Meet In December
The men will lunch with Williams, while their wives are luncheon with Mrs. Nancy Williams, the governor's wife, and then combine for what Williams called a "social dinner" in the evening.

The new officers-elect include U. S. Sen. Patrick V. McNamara, who will be a sort of onlooker; Lt. Gov. Philip A. Hart, Sec. of State James M. Hare, Atty. Gen. Thomas M. Kavanagh, State Treas. Sanford A. Brown and Aud. Gen. Victory Targonski.

The group, plus other advisers, will meet in December at Haven Hill Conservation lodge in Oakland county for further discussions, Williams said.

Huge Wolf Scares Farm Folks North Of Iron Mountain

IRON MOUNTAIN (AP)—A huge gray timber wolf, brazenly stalking livestock and seven humans, is causing frightened farm residents north of Iron Mountain to stick close to their homes these days.

Conservation Officer Robert Timmer estimated from descriptions that the wolf weighs 80 to 100 pounds, which would make it one of the biggest of its species.

Mrs. Anthony Deldin said it chased a buck deer into the yard of their farm home and "was every bit as big as the deer."

Divers Find Tusks
DARTMOUTH, England (AP)—Officials of a British salvage firm said Tuesday night that divers have brought up 96 elephant tusks from a richly laden ship that sank in the English Channel 73 years ago. The value of the tusks has not been fixed, but prime tusks weighing up to 100 pounds bring more than 100 pounds sterling ($280) each in London.

Airliner Lands On 2 Wheels At Chicago With 43 On Board

CHICAGO (AP)—An American Airlines Convair jet liner, with 43 persons aboard, made a successful crash landing on two wheels Tuesday after circling over Chicago for more than an hour when the plane's landing gear failed to operate.

One of the 40 passengers suffered a cut finger as he scrambled out of an escape hatch seconds after the twin-engine plane made a safe but slightly bumpy landing. The crew of three escaped unhurt. The plane's right wing, a propeller and engine covering were damaged.

The landing was made on the jet runway at Glenview Naval Air Station, about 20 miles north of Midway Airport, the plane's destination after a flight originating in Fort Worth, Tex. Stops had been made at Dallas, Oklahoma City, Tulsa, St. Louis and Springfield and Peoria, Ill.

The pilot, Capt. Hugh Barron, unable to release the right main landing gear, flew to the Glenview airport, the closest field with runways long enough for emergency landing.

Among the passengers were Mrs. William G. Stratton, wife of the governor of Illinois, and Peter F. Mack Jr., Democratic congressman from Carlinville, Ill., who is a flyer.

"I wasn't too scared," Mrs. Stratton said. "The captain and crew were wonderful. They told us what was wrong, what to expect and how to get out."

Gov. Stratton later told her: "Maybe you weren't scared, but I was." He had been in his Chicago offices when he had learned of the plane's distress. Told he couldn't get to Glenview in time for the landing, he stayed on an open phone line.

The passengers appeared outwardly calm as they emerged from the plane. One said: "I've made worse landings on three wheels."

Eisenhower Asks OK On Asia Pact

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today asked the Senate to ratify the Southeast Asia collective security pact as "an important link" in the free world's defense against any Communist aggression.

In a special message submitting the treaty, the President said it is designed "to promote security and peace in Southeast Asia and the Southwest Pacific by deterring Communists and other aggression in that area."

He added: "The Southeast Asia Collective Defense Treaty complements our other security treaties in the Pacific and constitutes an important link in the collective security of the free nations of Southeast Asia and the Pacific."

The Pacific pact was signed at Manila Sept. 8 by the United States, Australia, France, New Zealand, Pakistan, the Philippines, Thailand and the United Kingdom.

The President asked the Senate to "give early and favorable consideration" to ratification of the treaty.

The White House said, however, that the President still is not looking for action on the pact until the new 84th Congress convenes in January.

Court Of Last Resort To Seek Release Of Prisoner At Jackson

EAST LANSING (AP)—Dr. Lee Moyné Snyder, Lansing authority on legal medicine, has said the so-called "Court of Last Resort" will attempt to secure the release of a prisoner serving a life term for murder at the State Prison of Southern Michigan.

The "Court of Last Resort" is a private group interested in correcting miscarriages of justice.

Although he would not reveal the name of the prisoner or the county from which he was sentenced, Dr. Snyder said the inmate had served 13 years of a life term "although he was 75 miles away at the time of the murder."

Sentence Three To Prison Terms

Three men charged with breaking and entering were sentenced to terms in state branch prison at Marquette by Judge Glenn W. Jackson Tuesday afternoon in Delta County circuit court. They are:

Ronald Hawkins, 21, of Gladstone, charged with breaking and entering in the nighttime, sentenced to 2½ to 15 years.

Milton Broeders, 18, Gladstone, charged with breaking and entering in the nighttime, 1½ to 15 years, with a recommendation that he be sent to the Cassidy Lake camp for first offenders.

Martin P. Ritchie, 44, of Escanaba, charged with breaking and entering in the daytime, 1 to 5 years.

Hawkins and Broeders were charged with breaking and entering the A. W. Freeman camp on the Escanaba River near Cornell on Sept. 7; and Ritchie the B. W. Hall camp at Stonington on Sept. 31.

All three had pleaded guilty to the charges when arraigned before Judge Jackson previously.

Aged Man Injured When Hit By Auto

Ernest Wicklund, 77, of 216 N. 12th St., was injured when struck by a car while walking across Ludington St. at 15th St. yesterday evening. His condition was reported as "fair" today at St. Francis Hospital.

Edward LeBeau, 29, of Bark River, was driver of the car that struck Wicklund, according to Escanaba police.

The aged man suffered a cut behind the left ear and a bruised left shoulder, police reported. He was taken to the hospital by LeBeau, who stopped immediately after the accident.

Police reported that LeBeau was driving east on Ludington St. at a speed of about 25 miles an hour when he saw Wicklund and applied his brakes. LeBeau in a statement to police said his car was almost stopped when Wicklund was struck by the left front fender.

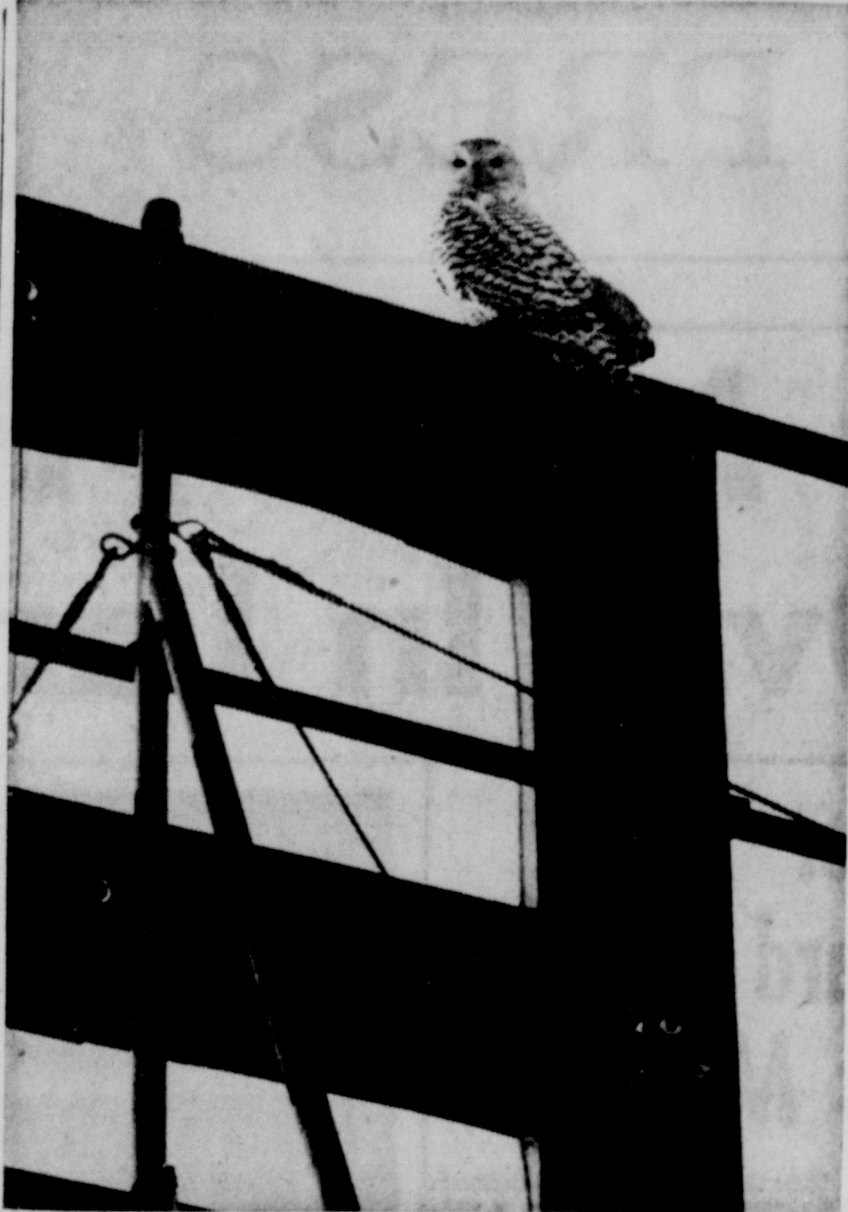

No tickets were issued.

Ferry Promotion Circular Issued

MENOMINEE — Chambers of Commerce of Menominee and Frankfort have begun circulation of a circular promoting the proposed state ferry service between the upper and lower peninsulas with an initial printing of 12,000 copies, reports Secretary John W. Reindl of the Menominee C-C.

Several thousands of the circulars have been shipped to the Straits area for distribution in the hope of enlisting support of the project which is described as "the most logical route in the scenic, short-cut route on Lake Michigan between Frankfort, in the Lower Peninsula, and Menominee, in the Upper Peninsula."

The two Chambers and other interested agencies plan to submit the proposal to the 1955 State Legislature with request for funds to finance an official survey as to need, number of boats, dock facilities, etc.

$350,000 Armory For National Guard Will Be Built In Escanaba

Construction of an armory for Company C, 107th Engineer Battalion, Michigan National Guard, estimated to cost $350,000, is scheduled in Escanaba in the 1959-60 fiscal year but the schedule can be moved up considerably with local contributions, Lt. Col. Leonard C. Ward, commanding officer, has notified the City of Escanaba.

Col. Ward's letter to Mayor Harlan Yelland and to the Escanaba City Council follows:

"The Michigan Military Establishment, State of Michigan, in its current program of capital outlay, approved by the State Military Board, has scheduled $350,000 in 1959-60 for the construction of an armory for Company C, 107th Engineer Battalion, Michigan National Guard, at Escanaba.

Based On Relative Need
"Quoting from the state construction schedule: 'The above four-year program is based on relative need without regard to availability of site or local contribution toward construction costs, either of which may materially alter the priorities.'

"While 34 new armories are proposed, few communities have deeded a site to the state. This act alone by the city of Escanaba would advance the schedule and give the project a real priority. If followed by evidence of other local contribution in cash, and site improvements and services, the bel-ginning could be soon since federal funds are already allotted to Michigan for armory construction and since the state has shown some disposition to appropriate funds for that purpose.

Local Contributions

"The total local contribution would approximate 25%. For example, the estimated cost of the Marquette armory approved for construction next spring is $352,950. The city of Marquette valued its contribution of site, sewer and water facilities, electrical connections, street paving, curbing, sidewalks, paved parking area, and landscaping at $45,000, and contributed the additional sum of $35,000 for architectural refinements of the armory building. The federal and state participation ap-

U.P. Publishers Will Sponsor Conferences On Teen-Age Safety

Seven "Teen-Age Safety Education Conferences will be held in the Upper Peninsula, beginning this month and continuing through February, it was announced today.

The first conference is scheduled for Wednesday, Nov. 17, and will be held at Northern Michigan College of Education, Marquette, for representatives of high schools in the Marquette-Aiger district.

Sessions will be sponsored by the publishers of the seven daily newspapers of Upper Michigan, in cooperation with Northern Michigan College, the Michigan State Police and the Michigan Department of Public Instruction.

Purpose Of Conferences Told
Purpose of the conferences, according to the publishers of the Marquette Mining Journal, Escanaba Daily Press, Iron Mountain News, Sault St. Marie Evening News, Houghton Daily Mining Gazette, Menominee Herald Leader and Ironwood Daily Globe, is to augment driver education programs and general safety education programs in the high schools of the U. P.

Furthermore, the publishers stated, the conferences will create an interest on the part of the high school students to step in and solve some of the problems with respect to automobiles.

Conference sponsors declare that the 'teen-agers, through free and open discussion at the sessions, will be able to establish some standards and set some pattern for their behaviors and performances as drivers of automobiles.

The programs will be conducted under the direction of skilled men and women long experienced in the field of accident prevention.

Driver conferences of this type were first initiated in the Upper Peninsula last year under the leadership of Northern Michigan College and the State Department of Public Instruction, and, according to law enforcement officials, were found to be "most beneficial."

Newspaper publishers of the Peninsula, long interested in the field of traffic safety, have, in accepting the responsibility of sponsorship, enlarged the program from four conferences held in the past year to seven this season.

Wider Range Of Coverage

The higher number of meetings will give a much wider range of coverage for the high school systems of the U. P., it was pointed out by Captain Robert E. Murray, Marquette, commander of the Eighth District of the Michigan State Police.

Captain Murray said that youngsters representing their high schools at the conference will discuss such matters as their social responsibilities as drivers, the development of proper attitudes in relation to motor vehicle laws, the use of the family car, the expansion of driver education and the requirements of a good driver.

The conferences will be conducted primarily by the youngsters themselves, under the guidance of skilled leaders, and each will feature one widely-known state figure as a speaker.

Personals

Second Lt. Robert Myrsten, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Myrsten, Bark River Rte. 1, left Sunday for Kinross A.F.B., Sault Ste. Marie. Lt. Myrsten will serve three years with the U. S. Air Force. He is a 1954 graduate of Michigan State College.

Warm Weather Will Continue

Increasing cloudiness and increased wind velocity are forecast for tomorrow by Tom Coen, for the present in charge of the Escanaba weather bureau. But Coen adds that this does not necessarily mean an end of the current spell of Indian summer. Prospects are that temperatures may reach a high of 52 by tomorrow.

Yesterday's high was 45 which cooled only four degrees during the night.

The present mild state of weather is due to a high pressure area hovering over Lake Ontario and a low pressure area over western Hudson Bay. This condition tends to produce the south winds that have prevailed here.

The nation in general has seen practically no rain for the past 24 hours. The nearest area reporting precipitation was Fargo, N. D. where slightly more than a trace fell during the night.

Briefly Told

City Hall Closing — Escanaba City Hall will be open Thursday morning but will close at noon in observance of Veterans' Day.

Odd Fellows — Impellant Lodge 460, I. O. O. F., will hold a benefit supper tonight at 5. Proceeds are for a member of the organization.

Chimney Fire — A chimney fire at the residence of Mrs. Ellen Johnson, 609 Stephenson Ave., resulted in a call to the fire department at 9:09 p. m. yesterday. There was no damage.

Ford River Party — The Ford River Mill PTA is sponsoring a card party Saturday, Nov. 13, at 8 p. m. at the Ford River Town Hall. All types of card games will be played and lunch will be served. The public is invited.

Friendship Club — The Friendship club will meet Thursday, Nov. 11, at 7:30 p. m. at Club 314. A movie on France will be shown, and cards and dancing will be held. Refreshments will be served.

Motorists Ticked — Escanaba police have issued traffic violation tickets to the following motorists: Daniel Searles, Bay Shore Drive, Gladstone, disobeying a stop sign; George E. Hansen, Escanaba Rte. 1, defective tail light.

Correction — Also serving on the hostess committee for the Barbershop wives meeting, to be held at the A. J. Schmeltzer residence, 1122 10th Ave. S., Thursday evening, is Mrs. Earl Owen, whose name was unintentionally omitted in yesterday's announcement.

Released — Ronnie Vanderberg, 17, who was injured in a hunting accident at the Gladstone city dumping grounds, has been released from the hospital and is recuperating at the home of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Vanderberg, 1016 Delta Ave. He was shot in the left hip.

AT CARSON—Bruce E. Erickson of Grand Marais, who recently was commissioned a Second Lieutenant in the army following a basic course for new officers at Fort Benning, Ga., now is stationed at Fort Carson, Colo., with the 61st Inf., 8th Division. Lt. Erickson is a graduate of Grand Marais High School and St. Norbert's College, DePere, Wis., where he received his bachelor of science degree. He taught last year at Gilmanton, Wis., High School, and also coached baseball and basketball. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Erickson and a grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph DesJardin.

Vandals Break Train Signal

The Chicago and North Western Railway's tele-detector box located a mile west of the Bird's Eye Veneer Company plant was broken by rifle fire last week. Local officers and special agents of the C&NW are investigating the vandalism.

The tele-detector box is one of four on the Piquette division that is used to transmit information on train passages along the railroad line to the dispatcher's office in Escanaba.

The tele-detector opens a signal to the dispatcher's office that permits the dispatchers to hear trains pass those points. The signal system is essential to safe operation of the railroads.

The railroad reported that this is the second time that this tele-detector box has been damaged by rifle fire. Malicious destruction of the railroad equipment is a serious offense and offenders will be prosecuted, the railroad reported.

More Case-Finding Needed To Wipe Out TB In Michigan

THE importance of the X-ray survey conducted in Delta County last month by the Department of Health is indicated by the most recent report on the availability of tuberculosis beds in Michigan.

The report shows that through September the present state TB bed occupancy is at 78 per cent of the current capacity of 5590 beds. Four hundred and fifty-six of these beds are classified as unacceptable and if they were closed the bed occupancy would be at 85 per cent of capacity.

The figures show that tuberculosis is still a potent disease in Michigan. The tragedy is that many persons with active cases of tuberculosis don't know it. The need for better case-finding is apparent.

Try And Stop Me By BENNETT CERF

A well-known man-about-town took a girl friend for a late snack at a Broadway restaurant where he often dined and discovered when the time came to pay the check, he had no money at all with him. Then he spied a waiter he had known—and tipped well—for years at the other side of the room. Beckoning him, he whispered, "Joe I left my money in my other suit. Will you lend me a ten spot?" "I'm sorry," said the waiter coldly, "but this isn't my table."

Two character actresses who had been great stars in their day were gossiping over a salad at Sardi's. "I've discovered the greatest makeup artist in New York," boasted one. Diet, Abuse of Laxatives Contribute To Constipation

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D. — Written for NEA Service

"I have had to take laxatives every night for years," a correspondent writes, "and I am desperately uncomfortable a good deal of the time in spite of this. What do you think can be done?"

Certainly one of the prime causes of constipation is the abuse of laxatives. A great many people have the idea that if they clean themselves out once a week with a good strong purge it will be good for them. If they do, however, the normal rhythm of bowel evacuation is disturbed and usually not re-established for several days. And the regular or inadvised use of laxatives tends to set up a bad habit of the bowel so that laxatives have to be relied on more and more.

Inproper training and neglect, especially in childhood, have a great deal to do with the condition in most cases. Much trouble comes from failure to set aside a regular time of day for a bowel movement. Also many people get into trouble because they do not yield at once to nature's call which may occur any time of day.

True constipation means that fecal matter is retained in the intestinal tract longer than it should be so that there is excessive delay in discharge of intestinal waste. A great deal of expert study has been given to constipation and the causes are well known.

Diet of course, has a great deal to do with constipation. Too many people gulp their food down without allowing enough time for their meals, just as if they were the gas tank of a car. Furthermore, many of the foods which we eat are so highly refined that they do not contain the bulk necessary to assist in proper movement of the bowels.

In some parts of the world and at some times of the year there are not enough fresh fruits and vegetables in the diet. These foods not only supply a large part of the needed bulk but also aid in peristalsis or the wave-like movement of the intestine which carries the waste down through the intestinal tract.

Treatment of simple constipation is usually successful unless the trouble has begun in childhood or has lasted for many years. The underlying cause, whether it be diet, neglect or abuse of laxatives, first has to be corrected. Appropriate exercise, too, helps to improve peristalsis and strengthens the muscles of the abdomen which aid in the expulsion of waste matter. The correspondent should get to work to correct the fault of overuse of laxatives and probably bad diet.

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—Glaring misstatements of fact—errors that have astonished parliamentarians of long experience on Capitol Hill—have been found in the Watkins committee report which may mean the collapse of two of the three points in the censure resolution proposed against Senator McCarthy of Wisconsin.

These misstatements of the law and the precedents will prove embarrassing to Senators Lehman of New York, Douglas of Illinois, Humphrey of Minnesota, and a number of other senators on the so-called "liberal" side who will be abandoning their convictions and reversing themselves if they accept the doctrine laid down in the Watkins report that the Senate is a "continuing body."

The point at issue concerns the flat statement made in the Watkins report that, because the Senate is a "continuing body," Senator McCarthy can be punished for something that happened during his prior term in Congress. The exact opposite—that the Senate is not a "continuing body"—was vigorously contended by a large number of so-called "liberals" in the Senate just 22 months ago.

LOOSE LANGUAGE

The loose language of the Watkins committee report which is disputed by the parliamentarians is as follows:

"Senate rule XXXII provides that the legislative business of the Senate shall be continued from session to session, and that the legislative business which remains undetermined at the close of the next preceding session of that Congress shall be resumed as if no adjournment had taken place. This rule makes it clear that all legislative business continues from session to session."

The report then immediately draws this conclusion: "The Senate has the power to censure a senator for conduct occurring during a prior term."

But the Watkins committee report is factually wrong, because the Senate rules do not provide for any such continuity in the status of legislation. When this question was last debated on January 6, 1953 in connection with an effort to remove the ban on changes in the cloture rules, Senator Lehman of New York, Democrat, who has recently been one of the archfoes of Senator McCarthy, said:

"Obviously, the continuance in office of 64 senators does not mean that the Senate, as an organized body, continues beyond the expiration of the Congress of which the Senate is an integral part. That would be an impossible contradiction."

RULES OF SENATE

"When the Congress dies, the Senate, as an organized body, dies, too. It is revived, as the House is, on the third day of January when the new Congress begins its term. The fact that 64 senators remain in office provides a bridge of personal continuity. But that continuity has no relationship to the fact that at the end of the term of the whole Congress the whole Congress is finished, and that includes the rules of the Senate."

Senator Lehman filed a brief prepared under the auspices of the 1952 leadership conference on civil rights, which included the American Civil Liberties Union, the Americans for Democratic Action, and many labor unions and religious and veterans' organizations. This made an even stronger legal case against the concept that the Senate is a "continuing body." After pointing out that legislative business may be carried over from session to session only of the same Congress, the brief says: "It is clear from the rule (XXXII) that legislative business lapses at the end of each Congress so that committee hearings, committee reports, Senate debate and even progress through the Senate calendar are all for naught if the legislative business has not been completed by that time."

NOT CONTINUING BODY

Senator Douglas of Illinois, Democrat, said in the same debate:

"Despite the hold-over of two thirds of its members in each new Congress, it is conceded by everyone that the Senate is not a continuing body for the consideration of legislation, executive appointments, treaties, officers or committees. There is no basis for a different conclusion on the matter of rules."

Even the brief submitted at that time by the Republican policy committee sponsored by the late Senator Taft on the other side of the debate contained the following concession:

"No direct precedent has been found in the form of a Senate ruling either on the question (1) whether the Senate is a continuing body, or (2) whether its rules are continuing."

While the Senate failed by its subsequent vote to permit the previous rules to be discarded in favor of an amendment to restrict debate, the vote was taken on that issue directly rather than on whether the Senate was a "continuing body."

Research On Smog Lags; Doctors See Factor In 23,000 Deaths

By KENNETH O. GILMORE

WASHINGTON — (NEA)

Thousands of dollars are now being spent to find out whether smoking causes lung cancer. Yet another important suspect goes virtually unheeded for lack of funds.

Air pollution has not received as much public attention as tobacco smoking but outstanding medical authorities admit that it, too, may be equally responsible for the death of last year's estimated 23,000 lung cancer victims. Few dollars are available, however, for research on this phase of the cancer problem.

"Unless and until it is proved that smoking is the only culprit, we must not neglect research on the other possible causative agents," warns Dr. E. Cuyler Hammond, statistical director of the American Cancer Society.

Hammond lists three different environmental factors that could be at least partly responsible for the rise in lung cancer. They are: (1) cigarette smoking, (2) exhaust fumes from automobiles, and (3) air pollution from coal and oil furnaces.

For a long time, the Public Health Service has considered it highly essential that studies be made on health problems related to air pollution but the necessary money has never been granted.

Appealing for these funds, Mrs. Ovela Culp Hobby, Secretary of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, wrote to the Senate Banking and Currency Committee, which was considering an air pollution amendment.

"There is increasing evidence that polluted air over cities and metropolitan areas constitutes a serious hazard to their health and welfare," she pointed out.

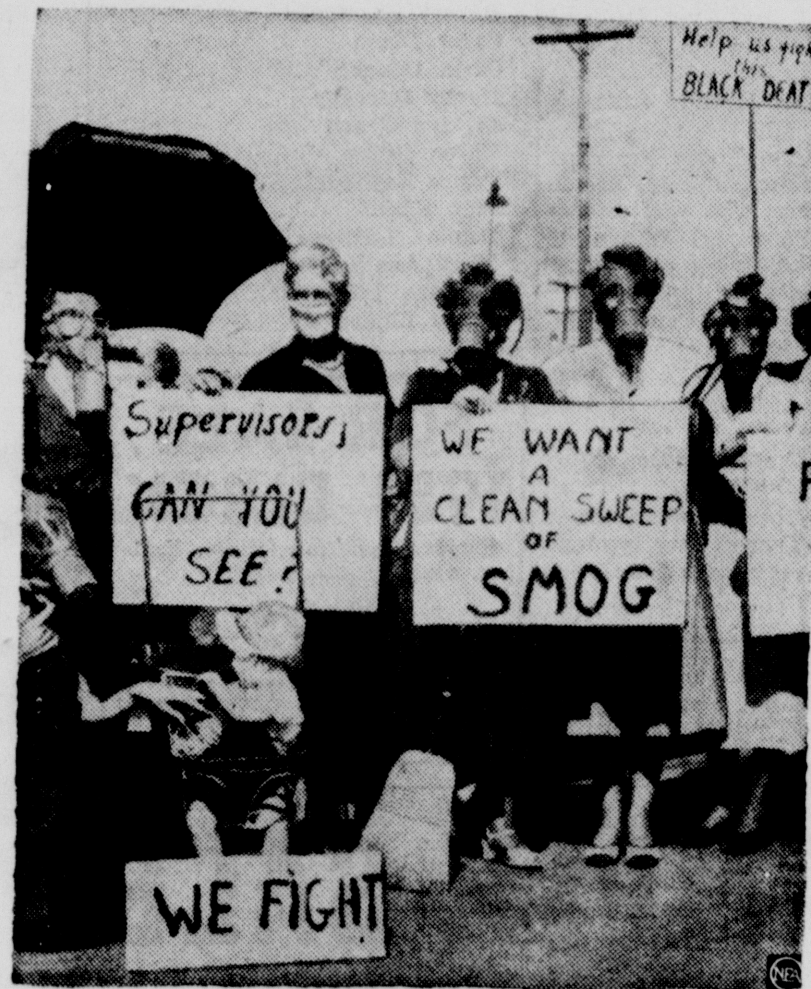

During the last session of Congress legislation providing money for this purpose nearly passed but was knocked out in conference at the last minute.

Last May before the House Subcommittee on Appropriations Dr. Arthur J. Vorwald, chairman of the Department of Industrial AROUSSED HOUSEWIVES IN PASADENA, Calif., plagued by smog for 15 days in a row in October, air protests at City Hall.

Medicine and Hygiene at Wayne University, Detroit, Mich., urged the adoption of a broad laboratory program to study the ability of various pollutants to cause lung cancer.

He was one of several witnesses introduced by the American Cancer Society, which was seeking adequate government funds for the National Cancer Institute.

"We know that the atmosphere that we breathe every minute frequently contains compounds which cause cancers in animals," said Vorwald. "This is enough to make us suspect that they may contribute to the rapid rise in lung cancer and perhaps some other cancers in humans."

Because cigarette smoking has been the focus of so much attention in regard to lung cancer, the tobacco industry has chipped in an initial half a million dollars for independent research.

Last January, the Tobacco Industry Research Committee was organized to foster study into all phases of tobacco use and health. In April the committee named a Scientific Advisory Board to handle the distribution of this money impartially.

Seven outstanding educators, scientists and doctors are on the board. It is presently issuing grants to qualified individuals and institutions who will report their own findings.

"We shall not attempt to direct the course of this research nor shall we limit or influence the investigator in charge of it," says Dr. Clarence Cook Little, Scientific Director of the Committee. "We appreciate all the work that has been done and is being done which borders on this field. We have no axes to grind and do not intend to be critical of the efforts of others."

So They Say

I will not be a candidate for the presidency in 1956. I'm for Adlai Stevenson.—New York governor-elect Averell Harriman.

By golly, sometimes you sure get tired of all this clackety-clack.—President Eisenhower on campaign.

Anyone realizes that there may be setbacks. But they have nothing to do with the worthwhileness or value of our (GOP) cause.—President Eisenhower.

It's kind of a Christmas gift (election results).—Leslie Biddle, treasurer, Senate Democratic Campaign Committee.

I believe they (atomic explosions) are cumulative, and certainly an undue number of them might have very serious effects.—Prime Minister Sir Winston Churchill.

The housewife doesn't miss the old counter service. The gossip she is used to has not languished in the (supermarket) type of store.—Joseph B. Hall, grocery-chain executive.

My pa always said it wasn't safe for a woman to vote.—Mrs. Alice Walker, 93, explains why she never voted before 1954.

If he (President Eisenhower) does not repudiate it (Dixon-Yates contract) when he learns the facts, he will deservedly go down in history as matching in incompetency another former general; namely, Ulysses S. Grant.—Sen. William Langer R., N.D.).

We won last year. We won this year, and we will win in 1956.—New York's governor-elect Averell Harriman.

NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON —(NEA)— Department of Defense has done more than any other government agency in surveying its business and industrial type activities that compete in any way with private enterprise. As a matter of fact, it is the DOD experience in this field which has made possible the Budget Bureau's forthcoming plan to cut down this competition in all branches of government.

Defense Secretary C. E. Wilson gave the armed services a new directive on this subject a year ago. In effect it froze all existing commercial and industrial type facilities and made it impossible for the Army, Navy and Air Force to go into any new business enterprises.

New standards were set up to determine whether the existing Department of Defense business enterprises should be continued. Exceptions were given to post exchanges, commissaries and activities not supported by funds appropriated by Congress.

OTHERWISE, NO DOD BUSINESS may be continued unless:

- 1—There is no adequate facility available for the same service.
- 2—Substantial savings can be made by having the government do the job.
- 3—It is necessary to train personnel for field operations.
- 4—It is necessary to conduct an operation in complete secrecy.
- 5—It is necessary to conduct an operation in hazardous location.

Department of Defense has so far divided its business-type operations into three classifications. First includes aluminum smelting, scrap metal baling, clothing manufacture, coffee roasting, motion picture production, paint making, rope making, sawmilling.

The second grouping includes automotive and tire repair, cafe and restaurant operation, cement mixing, office equipment repair, wood preservation, power plant operation, tree and garden nursery operation, the manufacture for the armed services of chain, acetylene, caustic soda, chlorine, ice, oxygen, nitrogen, argon, freon, and shoe repair.

The third listing covers technical services such as research laboratory operation, the manufacture and repair of surgical, dental and optical instruments, watch, clock and jeweled instrument repair.

The list is long, but it indicates the wide variety of business-type activities in which the armed services are involved. In all, DOD has now inventoried over a thousand enterprises.

SO FAR, 17 SCRAP METAL plants have been closed. All but one of the sawmills have been shut down. Navy has reduced the types of paint it makes from 150 to 28. The Army has sold a $15 million chlorine plant. Air Force has increased its maintenance work by private contract from 21 per cent in 1952 to a goal of 50 per cent in '55.

All this work was progressing nicely as a sideline operation in the office of the Assistant Secretary of Defense for Supply and Logistics, Thomas S. Pike. Then, when the top brass saw that a tremendous thing this was, a decision was made to upgrade it into a separate operation. The work is now being performed by a "Commercial and Industrial Activities Division," temporarily under Richard K. Chapman. But the hunt is on for some hot-shot business executive from outside the government to come in and head the work as a major reorganization.

Ex-President Herbert Hoover's Commission on Organization of the Executive Branch of the Government has also made a big project of this operation. There is a full 20-man task force under Charles J. Hook of Arco Steel Company at work on business organization of the Department of Defense. But under it a special subcommittee on Business Enterprises in the DOD has been set up under Joseph B. Hall, president of the Kroger Company.

IT WILL BE SEVERAL MONTHS before Department of Defense has all its surveys completed on its business-type operations. It will be some time after that before the Hoover Commission can report. It will be even longer before the Budget Bureau completes its inventories for the entire federal government. But action on this reform in government is a must for next year.

Rowland R. Hughes, director of the Budget Bureau, placed special emphasis on this problem in his recent speech before the American Bankers Association.

"The federal government today is . . . among other things, the largest electric power producer in the country, the largest insurer, the largest lender and the largest borrower, the largest landlord and the largest tenant, the largest holder of grazing land and the largest holder of timberland, the largest owner of grain, the largest warehouse operator, the largest ship owner and the largest truck fleet operator. For a country that is the world's principal exponent of private enterprise and individual initiative," said Mr. Hughes, "this is an astonishing list."

It indicates, perhaps, the fields in which the Eisenhower administration will seek to curtail government operations.

Governor Takes Rap At Highway Office For Speeding Bids

LANSING (AP)—Gov. Williams rebuked the State Highway Department for letting road construction projects without advertising for bids.

At Williams' suggestion, the State Administrative Board instructed the department to explain its policy of not advertising for bids on all projects.

Williams criticized two contracts submitted to the board but agreed to let them be approved when he was informed that the projects already had started.

One was a $39,677 contract to the Blue Water Excavation Co. of Port Huron for seven-tenths of a mile of grading, drainage and black-topping on the port Huron bypass of US-25 to provide a school service road in Port Huron township.

The other was a $10,789 contract for 860 feet of black-topping on US-112 half a mile west of Bundy Hill in Hillsdale County, to the Reith-Riley Construction Co. of Battle Creek.

H. F. Rye, assistant to the deputy highway commissioner, told the board that on certain small or emergency jobs the department did not advertise for bids but asked several contractors in the area to bid.

The board approved a $71,953 contract to the Remington Rand Co. and R. P. Lewis Co. for installation of the state's new central drivers record file, a key part of a new program to tighten controls over motorists.

An important message to the citizens of Escanaba

The following is a reprint of a message broadcast over Station WDBC at 8 p. m. Nov. 8 and Station WESK at 6:15 p. m. Nov. 9 and is reprinted here by the Greater Escanaba Committee.

POWER for progress — is the slogan which was never more true than it is today. The Greater Escanaba Committee which was organized to act on issues affecting the future growth and development of our city — cordially invites you to this discussion on the subject of power — Electric Power.

The Greater Escanaba Committee headed by Chairman Gust Asp is a voluntary committee of Escanaba citizens. Other members include Joseph Ivens, Jack Manning Jr., Dr. and Mrs. John Walch, Guy Knutson, Abe Herro, Clifton Reno, Arne Maki, DeForest Coyle, Dr. Roy Johnson. The Greater Escanaba Committee is focusing the spotlight of attention on this problem of power because it is basic to the future prosperity of Escanaba and to the area which surrounds the City.

Sound industry is the keystone of any community's growth, but in this electrical age a constant and dependable supply of electric power is the vital factor in determining whether or not industry can expand or new industries be attracted to a community. Right at this moment Escanaba is suffering — economically — from a power shortage because too little power is being generated to meet the area's needs and increased generation has been delayed to prevent a shortage.

The primary cause for the shortage has been the rapid increase in power consumption. This is an age of electricity, and people are using more power both in the city and on the farm, in the factories and in shops and in their homes. The situation has reached a point whereby the present power supplier for the City has expressed a desire to quit the power business in order to supply its own needs.

Back in 1923 the City of Escanaba purchased and used less than 3,000,000 kilowatt-hours of electricity. Thirty years later in 1953 the City purchased more than 26,000,000 kilowatt-hours — over 9 times as much as in 1923. Those of us in Escanaba have seen visible evidence of power shortage with Christmas "dim-outs." These dimouts have done great economic damage to the community.

Industry alone is a gigantic consumer of electric power and adequate amounts must be assured an industry before it will consider moving into a new location. In other words, Escanaba cannot hope to attract new industry without an adequate, firm, reliable power supply.

In dollars and cents, this means a financial loss to the City. It has been conservatively estimated that 100 new industrial jobs will add $300,000 of purchasing power yearly to a community. Added employment brings other benefits such as enlarged secondary pay-rolls, broadened tax base and greater municipal, educational and cultural advantages.

Escanaba today is obtaining its power from the Upper Michigan Power and Light Company on a wholesale power contract entered into in 1939. This contract does not expire until July 31, 1959. However, the Company is not only losing money on the power it is supplying the City but does not have enough power for its own use from its own generators. It would like to expand its paper-making operations here but cannot do so until the power shortage problem is solved. Accordingly, it has applied to the State for release from its contract with the City. Three proposals have been made to the City of Escanaba as a replacement for this power source.

One of the three proposals was made by a public power group with the power to be supplied by a rural electric cooperative from a generating plant financed by a loan from the Rural Electrification Administration. Under this proposal, excess or surplus power would be made available to the City of Escanaba. It seems to us that this proposal would put us in exactly the same position we are in today.

At the present time our power requirements are secondary to the power needs of the Mead Paper Company. Naturally enough they are interested in taking care of themselves first and Escanaba second. As we say, our position would be the same under this R.E.A. proposal. Escanaba's power needs would be secondary to the needs of the other cooperative customers.

Of particular importance to the citizens of Escanaba is the fact that this power would be surplus or excess power in order to conform to Government provisions which prohibit the R.E.A. from direct expenditures for service to communities in excess of 1,500 population.

The Greater Escanaba Committee seriously questions the advantages of the City operating under an agreement whereby Escanaba would obtain power only after and until the needs of other customers are taken care of. Furthermore, it is a known fact that most manufacturing firms and businesses are not too enthusiastic about doing business with a Governmental power source. The reasons advanced are practical ones rather than political. They know it is the nature of Government to be behind the times. It acts only when a situation is so desperate there is no other recourse but to do something about it.

One need only consider the plight of our schools, the condition of roads to know that this is true. Power is not the business for Government either Federal, State or local. The very fact of a turnover in personnel as administrations change or times fluctuate is evidence that constant, foresighted, hard-headed programs are not developed by Governmental agencies.

Escanaba has too much at stake to rely on a power source which depends on the whims of Governmental units. The Greater Escanaba Committee urges every citizen to look into the future — and the future is bright. Industry, agriculture and commerce must grow to meet the demands of constantly rising population and living standards. Regardless of the current economic situation a new, big wave of expansion is certain in the 1960's.

It will be sparked by a boom in consumer spending after children born after World War II grow up, get married, have children and begin stocking up on cars, houses, appliances, etc. Conservative estimates forecast total sales of electric power will increase 199% during the next 16 years.

We must take these facts into full consideration in deciding on our future power supply. Escanaba must gear its power plans to at least double the current need to accommodate new industry and to allow for the expansion of present industry and the power supply must be one which is geared to a rising economy and can provide for every expansion.

Our hopes are higher than ever as a result of the St. Lawrence waterway decision and the beginning of construction of the Straits of Mackinac Bridge. Escanaba can capitalize on these two important developments only if its source of power is not only adequate but capable of immediate expansion.

The Greater Escanaba Committee urges you to participate in this crusade to make Escanaba an even better place to live in. Join now by sending in your name to the Greater Escanaba Committee in care of the station to which you are listening.

Tax Rate For Schools Fixed

The Escanaba Board of Education last night approved a resolution requesting the city assessor to spread on the tax rolls 8.31 mills for operating expenses of the city schools, 2.7 mills for bonded indebtedness of the John A. Lemmer school and 1.52 mill for the Junior High School.

The assessments will be predicated upon the county equalized valuation for the City of Escanaba but the 8.31 mills for operating expenses actually represents the seven mills allocated for the schools converted from the county assessed valuation to the higher state assessed valuation.

Supt. John A. Lemmer reported that although the millage for the schools will be higher, the total tax rate in Escanaba for all purposes will be slightly less than the past year.

In 1953 the city tax rate was $15.69 per $1,000 assessed valuation and the combined county and schools was $20.08, or a total of $35.77.

This year the city tax rate was reduced to $14.96 per $1,000 and the combined county and school taxes are $20.69, or a total of $35.65.

The board authorized Supt. Lemmer to extend an invitation to Rosa Boeckl of Waldassen, Bavaria, Germany to visit the Escanaba schools for a month in January and February. The visit is being arranged through the Michigan Department of Public Instruction and does not involve any costs by the Escanaba Board of Education.

Other actions taken by the board follow:

Approved a second semester contract for Louise Jodocy as an elementary school teacher.

Approved changes in construction plans for the John A. Lemmer school at an additional cost of $859.

Authorized a request for federal hot lunch program at the Escanaba High School.

Received a report of children who entered Escanaba schools in 1941 and the dropouts prior to the graduation year of 1954.

Received report of Forest Roberts, NMCE, approving cases for speech correction work in the Escanaba schools.

'Walloping Wheelbarrow' Carries Powerful Punch For The Infantry

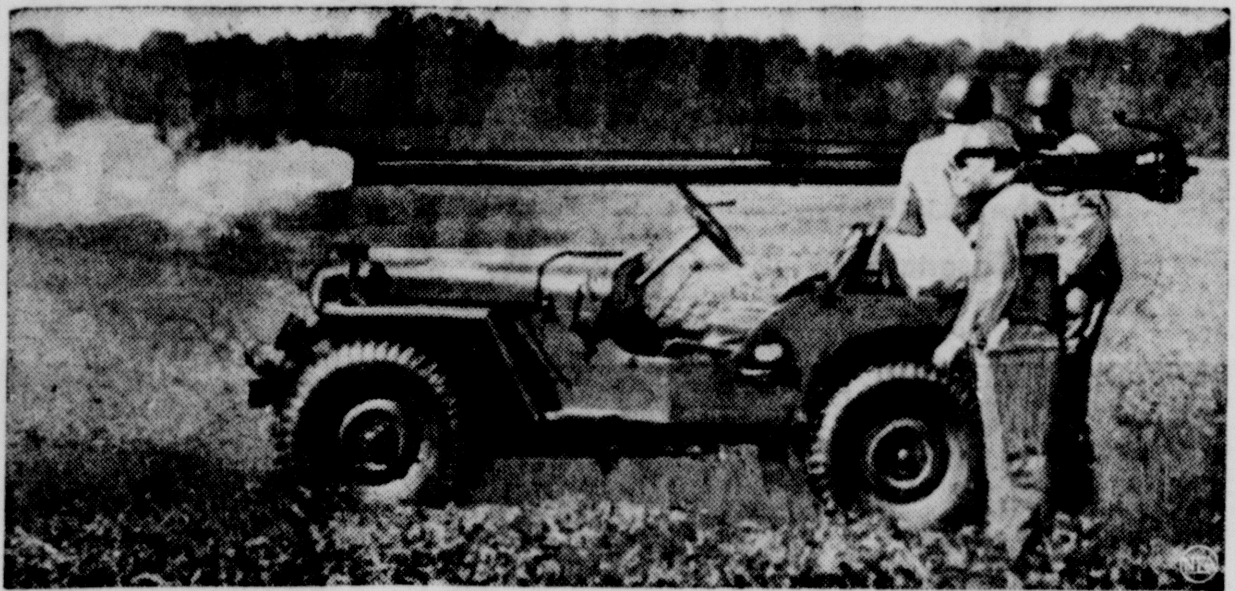

Our infantry now has the Walloping Wheelbarrow to defend itself. It was taken from under wraps at a demonstration before the Cleveland Post of the American Ordnance Association at Erie Ordnance Depot, LaCrosse, Ohio. It is the latest and most powerful of the line of artillery-type weapons which are adaptable for infantry use because most of the recoil is eliminated. Called the Battalion Antitank Recoilless Rifle System (BAT), it is 106 mm. and weighs less than 500 pounds. Chief feature is its mobility. It can be fired from a quarter-ton jeep truck or removed for firing from the ground simply by lifting two clamp handles. With a single wheel at the front of its carriage, it can be maneuvered on the ground by three men just like a giant wheelbarrow. Another unique point is the .50-caliber spotting rifle mounted on top. A couple of rounds with this small gun gets the range on the target and improves the probability of first-shot hits. Glowing tracers from the rifle make it effective at night. BAT has twice the power and twice the effective range of other antitank infantry weapons. With stronger armor on tanks this is the latest answer by the United States in the race to make infantry less vulnerable to them. Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. is making both weapons and ammunition.

Mounted on a jeep truck, the BAT is a highly mobile weapon for today's fast-moving infantry.

Demounted for ground-firing on tripod by its three-man crew, BAT becomes a "Walloping Wheelbarrow."

Though the BAT weighs less than 500 pounds, it has firepower comparable to a 2300-pound howitzer.

City Airport Used By 372 Passengers During Past Month

There were 82 scheduled arrivals and 82 departures of passenger aircraft during the month of October at the Escanaba municipal airport, with a total of 372 passengers served, it is reported by Fred Sensiba, airport manager.

One hundred and sixty-six passengers got off at Escanaba and 206 got on planes during October, the report shows.

Ten scheduled flights were interrupted due to bad weather, six flights were passed because of no revenue load, and one scheduled flight was passed because of bad weather, Sensiba reported.

In addition to the regularly scheduled flights, there was a total of 45 transient flights at the airport last month.

Bootlegging Begins Early On '55 Cars

DETROIT (AP)—The 1955 model car year is just getting under way—three new cars have been formally introduced—but already bootlegging is being practiced on a wide scale.

Word reaching Detroit is that new Pontiac and Chevrolet cars, introduced only two weeks ago, are being offered in used car lots, at auction sales and by discount houses.

Normal Business Suffers
In some instances the used car lots and the auction sales appear to be getting slightly more than the full list price. In others they appear to be selling below retail cost and in the case of the discount houses deliveries are being offered at 17 per cent below list, an industry source here reported.

Junior C Of C Plans Contest On Democracy

High school students of the tenth, eleventh and twelfth grades of all Delta County schools are eligible to participate in the "Voice of Democracy" contest, which is being sponsored locally by the Escanaba Junior Chamber of Commerce and nationally by the National Association of Radio and Television Broadcasters, the Radio and Electronics Television Manufacturers Association and the U. S. Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Students, entering the contest, must prepare a five minute broadcast script on "I Speak for Democracy", telling why they prefer to live in the United States. This script should approach the subject, positively speaking for democracy, and not against other government processes.

Winner of the local contest will make a tape recording of their script to be entered into the state contest. The state contest winner will receive a trip to the national contest at Washington, D. C., and Williamsburg, Va. Two years ago an Ishpeming boy won the state contest.

November 15 through the 20 is the period in which the students should prepare their scripts; Nov. 22 to the 30, the school and community contest will be held; Dec. 28, the state eliminations, and Feb. 18-25, national awards week.

Lloyd Plant At Menominee Cuts Its Work Week

MENOMINEE—Lloyd Manufacturing Company today announced that, effective this week, the plant will operate on a production schedule of four 8-hour days a week and expressed the gloomy prospect that further curtailment may be necessary to alternate work every other week.

"This new production schedule," the company statement said, "results from a lack of sufficient orders at this time to operate on the usual five-day-week basis. However, while the management is eager to resume full time operations as soon as orders warrant, unless Lloyd is able to secure a better share of the available business than it is now getting, it may be further necessary to alternate work every other week."

Current figures indicate the furniture business in general is still good; in fact, an upturn is noted in some segments of the industry. The competitive situation on Lloyd products, however, is such that the company is finding it increasingly difficult to obtain its share of the available business.

"It is felt that the difficulty in getting its share of the business is largely attributed to the high operating costs, plus the fact that the out-of-the-way location of the Lloyd plant results in higher transportation costs in getting the finished goods to the important furniture market areas of the country."

LET'S GET AWAY FROM IT ALL—This is the log cabin retreat of Secretary of State and Mrs. John Foster Dulles, at Main Duck Island, Canada. At right is one of the signs erected by Dulles, a political internationalist, with a preference for personal isolation. Built in 1943, the cabin is almost identical to those built by American pioneers. The single-story cabin is 25 feet square and has 3 rooms.

McCarthy Links His Fate With That Of Nation

he said, and now communism has extended "its tentacles to . . . the United States Senate." He declared the Watkins committee was playing the Communists' game in voting against him.

Help For Communists

He didn't say the committee had knowingly played the Communist game, but that it was a "victim" of the Communist campaign.

"And," said McCarthy, "having been victimized, it became the Communist party's involuntary agent."

In the course of the Senate debate I shall demonstrate that the Watkins committee has done the work of the Communist party, that it is not only cooperated in the achievement of Communist goals, but that in writing its report it distorted, misrepresented and omitted in its efforts to manufacture a plausible rationalization for advising the Senate to accede to the clamor for my scalp."

There he made it plain the best he could say for the Watkins committee was that it was too dumb to realize it was playing the Communists' game; the worst, game; the worst, that it deliberately connived to get him.

But if the members of the Senate are too stupid to know what the Communists are up to, and protect the country from them, who in the United States can be depended upon to save the nation? By direct implication McCarthy held himself up as one whose fate is linked to that of the nation in the anti-Communist fight. He said:

"It is not easy for a man to assert that he is the symbol of resistance to Communist subversion—that the nation's fate is in some respect tied to his own . . . but I take it you would rather I be frank than coy."

Aide To Mossadegh Executed For Plot To Overthrow Shah

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)—Former Foreign Minister Hossein Fatemi, firebrand of Mohammed Mossadegh's government, died before an army firing squad at dawn today for his part in the 1953 plot to unseat the Shah.

Fatemi was convicted and sentenced by a military court a month ago. An appeal to Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlavi failed.

The secret execution at Ghasr Barracks came as a surprise. Army sources said last weekend it would be delayed indefinitely because Fatemi was seriously ill.

Tehran's military governor, Gen. Teimour Bakhtiari, said Fatemi walked without trembling to the stake, where he was blindfolded and bound. He said "May God protect you" just before four volleys from the four-man firing squad crumpled him.

Fatemi's former chief, ex-Premier Mossadegh, was convicted last December of trying to overthrow the monarch. He is serving three years solitary imprisonment.

Gen. Fazollah Zahedi, the present premier, overthrew Mossadegh Aug. 19, 1953, after the Shah had fled the country, but in the confusion Fatemi escaped.

He was captured last March 13. Stabbed by a bystander as he was arrested, he was reported near death in a military hospital for several weeks. He heard his trial sentence from a stretcher.

Fatemi was one of the most violent spokesmen of the Mossadegh government in its fight with the British over nationalization of the Anglo-Iranian Oil Co. In the final days of the Mossadegh regime he bitterly denounced the Shah in public speeches, calling the ruler a "robber" and his court a "brothel."

Accused Of Wooing Coeds With Whisky, Professor Resigns

NARA, Japan (AP)—A 45-year-old professor accused by coeds of mixing whisky and wooing in the Nara College curriculum has announced he will resign.

Fifty of his girl students asserted Prof. Magashiro Abe had offered to improve their grades if they cooperated with his style of education.

Some said he taught them—behind locked classroom doors—to drink whisky and make love. Ridiculous, said the professor. Students at a rally called for expulsion. The faculty concurred. Abe said in a statement today he could "not be bothered with these trivialities." Therefore, he would resign and "devote my time to study."

Manufacturers estimate that about 14 million cameras in the United States are equipped for use of photo flash.

Wonders Of Hawaii Were Discovered In Year 1778

WASHINGTON—Hawaii, headquarters for possible statehood when the 84th Congress meets next year, is a semi-tropical garden of sugar cane, pineapples and sunshine that lay out in the blue Pacific strangely unknown to the world at large until Capt. James Cook discovered it in 1778.

The United States Territory of Hawaii is not one island, but a whole string of them, all of volcanic origin, stretching across 1,540 miles of sparkling ocean, says the National Geographic Society. Eight, lying some 2,300 miles west of San Francisco at their most easterly point, are considered major ones. On the five largest—Hawaii, Maui, Molokai, Oahu, and Kauai—live most of the 500,000 people of the Territory.

"Loveliest Fleet Of Islands"

What Mark Twain, who lived there for a time, called the "loveliest fleet of islands that lie anchored in any ocean," has probably been inhabited since the fifth century. Early Hawaiians were Polynesians who migrated, on the wings of the trade winds, in twin-hulled sailing canoes from far-away Tahiti, or perhaps even the Asia mainland.

After Cook came merchant seafarers, stripping the islands of their fragrant sandalwood, basis of a lucrative trade to China. Next arrived American whalers, to roister and carouse on gorgeous Maui while their ships fitted out for Pacific and Arctic hunts.

Meanwhile, King Kamehameha I, "Napoleon of the Pacific," conquered all rival Hawaiian chiefs to form a kingdom that was soon to welcome an important group of immigrants, the New England missionaries who arrived in 1820. Strait-laced virtues taught and practiced by these God-fearing men and women persist in the islands today, as visitors from the mainland find to their surprise when even the big city of Honolulu calls it an evening at midnight.

Queen Liliuokalani, who wrote the song Aloha Oe, was the last Hawaiian monarch. Her regime was overthrown in 1893 and a republic was formed in 1894. Five years later at the request of the Hawaiians, the United States Congress voted to annex the islands.

Blessed With Rain

Blessed with abundant rain and an equable 75-degree temperature, Hawaii can grow sugar cane and pineapples as they grow nowhere else. For much of its food, however, and nearly all its manufactured needs, the Territory depends upon imports.

Tourists, coming to swim from Honolulu's famed Waikiki Beach or to see Mauna Loa, largest active volcano in the world, bring in millions of dollars a year. The United States has elaborate Hawaiian military installations, one of them Pearl Harbor.

Racially, Hawaii is an efficient melting pot. Polynesian, Japanese, Chinese, Filipino and many other blood streams, including Caucasian, have flowed together to create a unique Hawaiian-American, on all counts a desirable citizen.

The synthetic character of modern Hawaii is well revealed in the history of things most mainlanders believe are typically Hawaiian. The grass skirt is a 19th century import from Samoa and is now made in New Jersey. The ukelele, today manufactured chiefly in Pennsylvania, came with the Portuguese from the old country. Even the lilt of Hawaiian music is full of Dixieland.

Pineapples came from Jamaica, sugar cane from many places. In fact Hawaii originally imported just about everything except the land, the climate and the sea. Nothing so good as these could have originated in any place but Hawaii, says the islanders.

'Amiable Dog' Took Big Bite

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Postman Milt Tobe was advised by a housewife on his new route to get acquainted with her dog which doesn't bite friends. As Tobe stretched out an amiable hand, the animal took a solid grip on his thigh.

"She told me the dog's name," Tobe mused, after a doctor had patched eight tooth holes. "But I wasn't interested."

AN UNSOUND DEDUCTION
A declarer who doesn't continually draw inferences from opposing leads and plays is said to be "asleep at the switch," but the deductive process can be carried too far. South in the deal below learned the truth of this point when he based his play solely on what he felt an opponent "couldn't have."

INCERT CUT 11-10
South's leap to the slam was an astonishing action. South could scarcely know that North would put down such excellent material in spades where it was so necessary.

West felt that declarer was expecting, hence was fully prepared for, an opening lead of the unbid club suit, so, as a double-cross, West laid down the ace of hearts. When South saw the dummy he took on the fixed idea that the heart queen must lie with East "because West wouldn't have led from ace-queen." So, after ruffing the heart ace, South promptly laid down the ace and queen of trumps, his idea being to get out the trumps even at the cost of one trick, if necessary, because the set-up of the heart suit in dummy was "marked."

East, in with the king of trumps, coolly led his last trump, which went to dummy's jack. South discarded a spade on the king of hearts and, with sublime confidence, led the heart jack through East for a ruffing finesse. South was very shocked when West took the trick!

There was no need for South to depend on a favorable position of the heart queen. He should have cashed three clubs, discarding two spades from dummy, then led a spade and taken the diamond finesse. Even if this finesse lost, South would be on safe ground, since the opponents could remove only one more trump from dummy, and South could then ruff two spades on the board.

Port Arthur To Return To Red China Next June

WASHINGTON— Russians, abandoning Port Arthur to their Chinese allies next June, look back over their shoulders at the scene of a crushing defeat.

There on Manchuria's southern tip, Japanese forces in 1904 smashed the czar's elaborate forts and destroyed his Pacific fleet in one of the most ghastly siege actions of modern times, says the National Geographic Society.

Sappers burrowed and fought beneath the earth like enraged moles. Ropes girdled their waists so colleagues could haul back their bodies if enemy tunnelers ambushed them in the dank darkness. Men fought and died in brutal cold. Disease slaughtered thousands.

Fighting Lasted a Year

The fighting raged for almost a year. The Japanese suffered 58,000 battle casualties. Before they capitulated, the Russians lost 15,000 in dead alone.

On a latitude approximately that of Lisbon and Washington, Port Arthur has a magnificent harbor with an opening only 300 yards wide. Because it is free of ice the year around, Chinese Manchu emperors made it a naval station, beginning about the time of the American Civil War.

Realizing that Port Arthur—based warships could control the Yellow Sea Japan captured the city in 1894, during the first Sino-Japanese War. Russia, however, forced the Nipponese out four years later.

From 1898 until Japan returned with troops and ships of war in 1904 the Russians turned Port Arthur into a "Gibraltar of the Pacific," bristling with guns and connected by rail with the new Trans-Siberian Railway to the north.

Yalta Agreement Governed

Japan held the port from 1904 until the close of World War II, when by terms of the Yalta agreement it fell under Russian control. Now, with Soviet withdrawal in favor of China, the wheel of Far Eastern power politics comes full circle at Port Arthur.

No one in the West knows precisely what inspires the Russians to leave the port. Rumor says the Soviets have turned Dairen, 20 miles north, into a formidable submarine base, with pens so strong they would be impervious to atomic attack—and Russia plans to remain in Dairen.

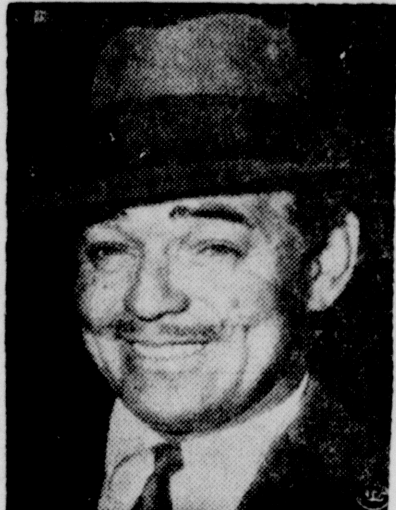

In addition to its naval qualities Port Arthur has the best bathing beach in all Manchuria.

The Big Change

Popular film star Clark Gable "is fading away," according to a London, England, newspaper. The paper says his kisses lack fire; his tread is heavy; his eyes dull, and his manner weary.

Burglary Broadcast System Pays Off

DETROIT, Mich. (AP)—Fred Kingon, 53, a hardware dealer has his own burglar alarm system—a loud speaker hooked up from his store to his home. And it works.

Kingon heard noises coming over the speaker and called police. They investigated and found two men chipping a hole through the rear wall of the store. Officers fired five shots at the pair, but only captured one in a chase.

Accurate Cancer Test Discovered

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Possible discovery of a new and highly accurate test for cancer, employing urine instead of blood, was announced to the Southern Medical Assn.

Doctors T. C. Terrell and H. H. Beard of Fort Worth, Tex., said the test is based on actually measuring the amount of a sex hormone called "chorionic gonadotropin" found in urine collected over a 24-hour period.

They told the SMA's 48th annual meeting that this hormone occurs in only small amounts in normal individuals but that it showed up at substantial levels in 94 per cent of 51 proved cases of cancer.

The doctors said a technique for detecting varying quantities of the hormone suggested possibilities of:

1. Detecting cancer before symptoms become apparent.
2. Testing for the presence or absence of any signs of "spreading" of a cancer following surgical or other treatment of the original malignancy.
3. Differentiation between "benign" and malignant tumors.

The Angels Fell

THE STORY: Paul Flagg receives an urgent telephone call from his ex-wife, Dina, who is now married to District Attorney Barnett Larkin. Dina says she wants to see Paul and she is afraid. Returning home from Martha Paley's trucking establishment, where he is manager, Paul finds that his wife had been at his apartment, but was not there. Instead, Paul finds Larkin's body in his hall closet.

Hot water flowed over my hands. In the medicine-chest mirror I saw that my eyes seemed to have receded deeper into their overhanging sockets, and the freckles strewn all over my face were even more prominent than in midsummer, because my cheeks had got pale since three minutes ago.

I thought of all the dead men I had touched in war without rushing to wash my hands, even when there had been water available. But this was not war. Here and now you didn't get a medal for killing a man. In New York State they strapped you to a chair and killed you in turn.

I dried my hands and went out to the living room and looked at the phone on the bookcase. Ernie Watrous, the chief of police, was more or less a friend of mine; we played basketball together twice a week in the high school gym. But all I would be able to say to him was that there was a murdered man in my closet, and a few minutes after he got here the word would go out to arrest Dina.

I went through the narrow kitchenette and slipped the small metal bolt of the door at the farther end and entered the cellar containing the furnace and coal-bin and Ted's workbench. I mounted the steep plank stairs to the Gallagher kitchen.

Charlotte was feeding her two daughters at the porcelain table. The baby was built like her father, which was too bad for a girl, but Grace, who was eight, was small-boned like her mother and a lot prettier. Grace worshipped Joey, and he tolerated her.

"She's not there," I said.

Charlotte put down the bowl of grayish gruel she had been thrusting at the baby. "She must have left while I was away."

"When was that?"

"She arrived in Roy Perry's cab just as I was about to go shopping. That was just about five o'clock, maybe a few minutes before five, and I didn't get back until almost six."

"Was Grace home while you were gone?"

Grace answered for herself, "We went shopping with Mummy." She stared at me with wide-eyed concentration.

So there had been nobody here to hear the killing. Nobody had seen Barnett Larkin arrive, apparently not many minutes after he had asked for me at the warehouse, not long after five o'clock. There was no doubt that he was the man who had been told by Jack Dwight how to get to my place. Handsome in a dignified way, Martha had described him and that fitted Larkin.

"I wonder how she left?" Charlotte was saying. "Roy Perry drove away as soon as—" She yelped. The baby had dug both hands into the bowl and was gleefully squeezing the gruel between her chubby fingers.

Larkin's car wasn't outside the house, so Dina must have driven away in it. After all, it was her car too.

Ted, again stripped down to his undershirt, came into the kitchen. "Did you look to see if she left a note?"

"I would have noticed it," Charlotte said. "She carried a briefcase. It was so full I thought the leather would crack."

She had left something for me all right—in the closet.

I stood in the kitchenette doorway and looked some more at the phone. My duty as a citizen and as an innocent man was to call the police. And Ernie Watrous would come and say: Either one of two people shot him—Dina or you.

Between five minutes to five and 20 after five I had been sitting unnoticed by anybody on Mrs. Rundthal's porch. Time enough to go home and shoot a man and return to the warehouse.

The photograph album was still on the table.

I slammed the album shut and replaced it in the bookcase, and when I straightened up I saw the hole in the wall.

A month ago it wouldn't have been noticeable because the sickish green plaster walls had been cracked and pitted. I had spent a weekend plastering and painting everything white to compensate for the perpetual gloom. So now there was a hole over my head, and when I went over to examine it, I saw a slight sprinkling of plaster dust on the dark brown of the bedspread. That proved that it had got there after I had made the bed that morning.

The hole was less than half an inch in diameter, round and clean, and it went deep into the plaster. A bullet hole. Two shots had been fired, and one had missed.

Before I could reach any decision I had to speak to Dina. I had the phone in my hand and was dialing the operator when abruptly I hung up. It was a toll call to Raventon, which would put it on record, and later it might be a bad thing for the police to know that I had got in touch with Dina after the shooting. There was no need to take chances when in five minutes I could be at a public phone.

I got out of there, making sure, for once, to lock my door.

I drove up rutted, bumpy Blackberry Lane which had only five or six houses along its half-mile stretch. I turned right on a black-topped road flanked by sleek, compact houses recently built or in the process of construction.

I stopped at Keller's drugstore which had public phones. The usual crowd hung around the entrance—young men just finished with supper and hoping for something to come up. Jack Dwight was among them.

"Hello, Paul," Martha Paley said.

She was sitting alone in a yellow convertible parked at the curb. She had taken down the bun she wore at work; her hair, tied with a gay ribbon, hung soft and fluffy over the back of her neck.

I nodded, not going over to her. That wasn't her car; obviously she was on a date. And I was hardly in the proper frame of mind for light chit-chat.

I turned to the drugstore entrance and almost ran into a big man who was peeling the wrapper off a cigar. He brushed by me and strode around the hood of the convertible and got in beside Martha. I'd seen him only once, more than three years ago at a party in Congressman Rahn's house, but one couldn't forget that impressive shock of white hair on that sculptured head. Martha waved to me as she drove off.

"That was George Maudson," Jack Dwight stood beside me, smirking.

I went into the drugstore and closed myself in the booth and called Dina's number and dropped a quarter in the slot. At the other end of the line, 30 miles away, the phone rang hollowly. I waited until my quarter was returned.

I stood on the sidewalk, wonder-

WHAT MAKES IT TICK? — A camel gets a metabolism check at portable laboratory in a Sahara Desert oasis. Two scientists from Duke University, at Durham, N. C., spent more than a year in the desert trying to dig up new information on the animal, famous for dering what to do next. There was nothing I could do at the moment except call the police. I shook my head as if in argument with somebody and walked down the street to Lou's bar.

It might be smart to be seen in public tonight by people who could later testify that I had appeared unconcerned. I said to Lou: "What can you tell me about George Maudson?"

"You mean you live in this town and don't know who George Maudson is?"

"I know that if you want a political favor or to hold public office in this county you don't go to the voters. You ask Maudson with your hat in your hand."

"Not only in this county," Lou said. "In this whole tier of counties. He was Mayor of Raventon once, but why should he hold one job when he runs them all? And he gets the best pickings for himself being a lawyer."

"And making district attorneys into judges."

"Peanuts," Lou said. "Judges are a dime a dozen. Maudson is out to get himself a Senator. He's got Congressman Rahn picked for the job. Only trouble is, Maudson don't throw weight in the whole state like he does up here. But they say Maudson's got a good chance to push Rahn's nomination through the convention because Rahn's got a pretty liberal record. He'd get the upstate vote anyway."

This was getting too close. Politics meant Barnett Larkin too whom Maudson had planned to make a judge. I had meant this to be only light and meaningless conversation, but it wasn't far enough away from the man in my closet.

Suddenly I thought of a girl I had kissed over three years ago. It had been under an elm tree in a garden, on a soft night like this when I had still been Dina's husband. The memory had been roused by mention of Congressman Rahn because she was the Congressman's daughter. That made her second name Rahn, but I couldn't recall her first name.

Famous Trichologist Tells Truth About Saving And Improving Hair

This new method of home treatment for saving and growing thicker hair will be demonstrated in Escanaba, Mich., Friday ONLY, Nov. 12, 1954.

These private individual demonstrations will be held at the Delta Hotel on Friday ONLY, Nov. 12, 2 p. m. 'till 9 p. m.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 7 — In an interview here today Dr. Russell Collins, internationally famous trichologist and director of the Collins Hair and Scalp Experts, Inc., said "There are 18 different scalp disorders that cause most men and women to lose hair. Using common sense, a person must realize no one tonic or so-called cure-all could correct all the disorders," he explained.

GUARANTEED

"The Collins firm, recognizing that most people are skeptical of claims that hair can be grown on balding heads, offers a guarantee," Collins said.

Once a person avails themselves to the Collins treatment his skepticism immediately disappears. To insure this, we offer this guarantee. "If you are not completely satisfied with your hair progress at the end of 30 days your money will be returned."

HOPELESS CASES DISCOURAGED

First the Collins specialists are quick to tell hopeless cases that they cannot be helped. But the "hopeless" cases are few. Only if a man is completely, shiny bald is he in this lost category.

If there is fuzz, no matter how light, thin, or colorless, the Collins firm can perform wonders.

Everyone is given a complete, private examination to determine the condition of his scalp, and once for his hair trouble.

FREE EXAMINATIONS

This examination is very thorough and highly technical. It requires 20 to 30 minutes. There is no charge for this examination and no appointment is necessary. After the examination he is told the required length of treatment and how much it will cost.

After starting treatment, he makes regular reports to the Collins firm in Oklahoma City, and a trichologist will return to check his progress periodically.

To spread the opportunity of normal, healthy hair to the thousands who are desperately looking for help, the Collins firm is sending specialists to various cities throughout the United States to conduct examinations and start home treatment.

NO CURE-ALL

"We have no cure-all for slick, shiny baldness," Collins emphasizes. "If there is fuzz, the root is still capable of creating hair and we can perform what seems to be a miracle."

There is one thing Collins wants to be certain every man and woman knows. If a recession appears at the temples or a spot begins to show up on the crown of the head, there is something wrong and it should be given immediate attention.

HAIR FOR LIFETIME

"If clients follow our directions during treatment, and after they finish the course there is no reason why they will not have hair all the rest of their lives," Collins said. "Our firm is definitely behind this treatment. It all depends on the individual client's faithful observation of a few simple rules."

HOW'S YOUR HAIR?

If it worries you call Trichologist Paul Conner at the Delta Hotel in Escanaba, Mich., on Friday ONLY, Nov. 12, 2 p. m. 'till 9 p. m. The public is invited. You do not need an appointment. The examinations are private and you will not be embarrassed or obligated in any way.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP) — Private citizens being able to speak their minds at city council meetings surprised a Dutch mayor when he visited Grand Rapids.

Jonkheer Rene J. Q. H. Roell, mayor of Hamsted, The Netherlands, told Grand Rapids Mayor George Veldman, also a native of The Netherlands:

"You provide seats for your citizens and say they have a voice in your proceedings. In my country, if a spectator says anything at a city council meeting, he is escorted out by a policeman."

Centers Of Industry Happy; Factories Are Getting More Orders

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP)—Happy talk comes today from the centers of industry as well as from the nation's stock exchanges.

Factories and mills are getting more orders, turning out more goods, rehiring more workers. Stores are reporting better traffic and higher sales volume.

It's the usual fall pickup in industry and trade. But it makes for happier reading this year because it is compared to the news of a year ago when the trend was the other way.

The rush of trading on the stock exchanges has been variously described as psychological reaction to the election results and as the belief that a new and soundly based peacetime prosperity is coming up.

Steel output is now at the highest rate of the year, and no longer is depressingly lower than a year ago.

Factory job totals are rising, mainly thanks to the auto industry.

Home Turned Down

BENTON HARBOR (AP)—The Benton County Board of Canvassers said Monday that a proposed $1,250,000 county home for the aged was defeated in last Tuesday's election by an 808-vote margin. The issue was unofficially thought approved by 707 votes. The board said 36,366 votes were cast in the issue.

AUTOMOBILE COUNT

LOS ANGELES—This city's metropolitan area has 2,100,000 automobiles, averaging five cars for every four families.

try and to the shops that turn out parts and supplies for the car makers.

The rush to turn out 1955 models is under way at most auto plants and production this month and next should be at a high rate.

Some of the car makers are talking about record output and sales next year. If the public takes to the new models as the producers hope, the flow of dollars in the auto centers will cheer many a merchant.

Store sales are already making their seasonal gains in many parts of the country. Merchants hope that this preholiday spurt foreshadows a big Christmas trade, once the holiday promotions get under way.

Rehiring of laid-off workers in many sections is giving trade its best nudge. The Labor Department reports that factory employment, which usually drops between mid-September and mid-October, rose instead this time.

The auto industry, and its many supplies, apparently accounted for most of the gain this fall. By making its model changeovers earlier this year, and getting into full production early in November, the industry will probably color the entire industrial output picture cheerily for some time to come.

No Holiday Closing

NEW YORK (AP)—Stock exchanges throughout the United States will remain open Veterans Day, Thursday Nov. 11. Banks will be closed.

The Chicago Board of Trade and other American grain exchanges will be open for business.

Various livestock reports will be issued by the Department of Agriculture.

ELITE ENEMY HUNTERS—Francis Cunnion (left) commander of the Air Intelligence Squadron at Selfridge Air Force Base, Mt. Clemens, Mich., gets some help donning special equipment from Sgt. T. M. Dunn. The men are part of an elite unit whose job is to locate and investigate enemy personnel who may crash in Michigan during an enemy attack. The Air Force revealed that there are 20 such units in operation around the nation. (AP Wirephoto)

Thin Clad Boys No Attraction

OMAHA (AP)—What does it take to attract attention on the streets these days? Omaha police wonder after catching up with three boys, ages 9 to 12, who had fled an Omaha juvenile home.

Barefooted and clad in pajamas, the boys wandered about the streets for four hours, visited an amusement park where they spent their bank roll—25 cents—and twice crossed a busy inter-city bridge.

A reporter who had heard a police radio call on the trio finally spotted them and notified police.

Annual Praise Service Draws Large Attendance

A large gathering attended the annual Praise Service of the Presbyterian Women's Association Tuesday afternoon in Westminster Hall of the First Presbyterian Church.

Mrs. William Zoerner of Pakistan was guest speaker. Mrs. Ralph Shiner was chairman of the tea committee, assisted by Mrs. C. A. Anderson, Mrs. Nels Jensen, Mrs. Hubert Allen, Mrs. Roy Goodman and Mrs. Stanton Abrahamson.

The theme of the meeting was "Make Straight the Highway" and it was led by Mrs. J. E. Sprague who was program chairman. Mrs. Arol Beck played a violin solo, "Adoration," Borowski, with piano accompaniment by Mrs. Clarence Moore.

Mrs. Zoerner gave a most informative talk on the new Democratic Islamic Republic of Pakistan.

Language Difficulty

She stated that there are 800 people per square mile in East Pakistan, compared to the 50-60 in the United States. Bengal in East Pakistan is a center of high culture and the largest jute growing area in the world. They also grow much rice, while West Pakistan raises wheat and cotton. There is 12 per cent literacy in Pakistan compared with 18 per cent in India.

Mission groups have considerable difficulty in combating the illiteracy, besides language problem, she said, as there are 200 dialects in India. Urdu, a language of Arabic and Persian base, is the principal language of West Pakistan and Bengali is spoken in East. Kashmir to the north is a country rich in resources, hence Pakistan and India are seeking it. Most of its people are Mohammedan.

She commented on the fact that the people of India have had freedom of worship since 1950.

Continuing, Mrs. Zoerner emphasized the Presbyterian work in the country and especially the accomplishments of the Rev. and Mrs. Harry Shaw who are missionaries in the field. Mrs. Shaw is a sister of Thaxter Shaw and Mrs. Oliver V. Thatcher of Escanaba.

Fragrance Adds To Charm

By ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor

Although the average college girl's budget doesn't allow for beautiful, expensive clothes, every coed can acquire the impeccable grooming habit that costs next to nothing.

Good grooming isn't like wearing a dress—for now and then. It means constant daily attention to the things that complete the picture of the well-groomed girl.

It means a freshly-bathed look. And that includes a daily bath or shower. Daily use of a deodorant is in order, too. So is morning and night teeth brushing, followed by a mouth wash.

Your nails and hair require the utmost attention, in order to complete your good grooming habits. Chipped nail polish and dandruff at the collar line are advertisements of carelessness.

To prevent your dresses, suits, skirt and blouse from looking tired, see to it that they are laundered and dry-cleaned on schedule.

Remember to include fragrance in your beauty routine. For economy and femininity's sake, a spray of cologne is the most practical.

This girl includes her favorite fragrance in her campus packing, knowing it's part of good grooming. The bottle is locked in a leak-proof carrying case.

Escanaba Reader Has Method Of Making Coal Plant

Directions for making a coal plant, requested by Mrs. Raymond Burns of Manistique, came in this morning from Mrs. George Kostitzke of 1024 Shridan Road.

Here is the way it is done: In a glass bowl put lumps of soft coal, coke, porous brick, tile or cement. Even a cheap sponge will do. Over this pour 2 tablespoons water, 2 tablespoons salt and 2 tablespoons bluing.

The following morning add 3 tablespoons salt.

The third morning add two tablespoons each of water, salt and bluing and then a drop or two of mercurchrome, vegetable coloring or stamp pad ink to each lump. Do not use iodine.

By this time a beautiful flower like growth has appeared.

A free air circulation is necessary.

To keep the plant growing keep adding bluing, salt and water from time to time. It will bloom indefinitely into beautiful rosebuds, coral and crystal.

Now, all you have to do, is get busy and try it.

Straits Bridge Job Nearly On Schedule Despite Bad Autumn

LANSING — The Mackinac Bridge Authority reported that the fall construction program for the 99 million dollar straits bridge will be completed on time.

Chairman Prentiss M. Brown said "in spite of the worst weather in years for outdoor construction, our contractors will complete the six main foundations on which the great suspension span of the bridge will be built."

Herbert Goodkind, project manager for the consulting engineers, said 33.4 per cent of the fall work had been completed in 35.4 per cent of the time allowed.

He said no serious consequences would result from the two per cent lag.

The report said that heavy rains and high winds through Oct. 13 had cut foundation construction work 60 per cent and delayed the delivery of materials but that the contractors have been "going full blast" since and will remain on the job until ice closes the straits or until materials can no longer be delivered.

Construction now is far enough advanced so there will be no danger to coffer dams or caissons now in place, the report said.

The authority said an extensive program of borings and probings at all foundations has been completed and the results have proven satisfactory. No major cavities or caverns were located.

The report said engineers have completed detailed designs for the remaining 27 marine foundations, that 70 per cent of the detailed design for the super-structure has been completed and that the balance will be done by the first of the year.

The report said the authority has spent eight million dollars for construction so far.

Pentagon Battle Boils On Control Of Marine Corps

WASHINGTON (AP)—A backstage battle over the future status of the Marine Corps is reported to be boiling in the Pentagon.

Informed sources who declined to be quoted by name said the issue is whether the Marines will come under complete command of the chief of naval operations or will remain under the secretary of the Navy.

An informant said Secretary Charles Thomas now has on his desk an order with a request that he sign it, which would put the Marines under supervision of the naval operations chief. Thomas is currently in Europe.

Official Pentagon spokesmen declined immediate comment. The general interpretation of a law passed a year ago is understood to be that the Marines shall be under the Navy secretary with the Navy's top uniformed officer having only operational control over them. That law set a minimum Marine establishment of three divisions and three Marine air wings.

Breakdown of expenses for the water department shows the following totals: Pumping—$3,850.82; purification—$715; Transmission and distribution—$3,197.90; administration and general—$630.11; source of supply—$56.14.

Assets of the city water supply system, according to the report, total $529,199.20. These include the utility plant and equipment, listed after depreciation at $235,417.41; construction work in progress, listed at $226,466.00; and cash assets of $56,526.49. The cash includes a $15,000 bond reserve account and revenue bond proceeds of $23,534.

Liabilities include $250,000 in revenue bonds outstanding and a $252,943.98 investment by the municipality.

Brother Of Manistique
Resident Tells Of New
Studies In Synthetics

Developments in the synthetic fiber field, which to date have been reflected chiefly in wearing apparel, are leading to studies for greater industrial use of synthetics, Dr. John M. Swanson, research manager for the E. I. DuPont de Nemours company, stated during a visit here Monday.

Dr. Swanson, a former Ishpeming resident who was graduated from Michigan College of Mining and Technology and the University of Wisconsin, is a brother of Mrs. Carl Olson of this city.

As a research manager in the firm's textile and industrial products division, Dr. Swanson is now organizing a staff for "end-use" research in industrial application of synthetic fibers. The work will be done in a new laboratory recently begun at Wilmington, Del.

New Type Felts

"With development of nylon, Dacron polyester fiber and 'Orlon' acrylic fiber, it became apparent to the firm that it had another job—to help industry use these products," the research manager stated.

Textile research, in the past dealt chiefly with problems of dyeing and fabric finishing, and development of new fabrics, the research man explained. Now research is pointing toward the best industrial utilization of these fibers, through exploration of unique properties such as high strength and chemical and abrasion resistance, he said.

One of the most recent developments is a process for making felts from "Dacron" polyesters. Dr. Swanson reported. Previously felts were made from sheep wool and fur. Some synthetic fiber was used, but not exclusively, he explained.

These new felts are expected find application in filtering corrosive liquids and gases at high temperatures, in polish for glass and other surfaces where abrasive resistance is needed, and in medical equipment. The felts, he explained, are easily cleaned, non-swelling and induce no allergic problems.

New Fabric Tough

The newest fabric development, since nylon, orlon and dacron, Dr. Swanson noted, is "Teflon" tetrafluoroethylene fiber, a material extremely resistant to corrosion and insensitive to heat. This fabric which has been available in solids but not as a fiber, can be used in packings for pumps which handle corrosives, he explained.

The "Teflon" also can be used for protective clothing, for electrical work, in laundry textiles and for special conveyors. It has a non-sticking quality, Dr. Swanson said, and gummy substances due not adhere to it.

He pointed out that this new fiber can be heated to 500 degrees Fahrenheit before it completely loses its strength, and can be exposed to sulphuric and nitric acid at over 300 degrees for several hours without losing tensile properties. The only damage is a slight shrinking due to the heat, he explained.

The "Teflon" fiber development, he added, is still in the experimental stage.

At present, Col. Ward reported, the army has five major missions. It must (1) insure positive defense against enemy land forces, (2) apply sustained pressure to soften the enemy's power, (3) suppress guerrilla operations, (4) force the enemy to mass troops and material to effectively use atomic weapons, and (5) be prepared, if victory is achieved, to destroy enemy land areas and enforce surrender terms.

The next conflict will be global, the speaker stated, and the army must be prepared to fight anywhere in the world. Victory cannot be the sole objective, he emphasized, for the U. S. wants peace in a world worth living in; and defense cannot be vested in any one weapon, branch or department, for it is complex.

The commanding general, Col. Ward noted, declared the U. S. could only be certain that communism was the enemy, and that it endangers the United States economically and psychologically as well as militarily. Russia, he said, has declared that the United States is her No. 1 enemy, and the main bulwark in her opposition.

The Escanaba Eskimo basketball team will play six of its first seven games this season on the road. . . . New coach Jim Betchek will travel with the Eskies to Holy Name, Marinette, Marquette and Iron Mountain before the first home stand at the Junior High gym against Ishpeming on Dec. 17. . . . And following that game with the Hematites, Escanaba will return to the road for trips to Gladstone and Stephenson.

Speaking of basketball, the word we get from coaches in the Upper Peninsula Central League is to watch out for Rapid River and Rock. . . . "They're both loaded with veterans and should be tough," they say. . . . Haven't had a chance to get together with Roger Carlson at Rapid yet, but Bob Pelkie of Rock reports he has seven lettermen back from last year's squad.

HOCKEY NOTES: Tony Bukovich, manager-coach-player-captain and publicity agent of the Portage Lake Pioneers, says he has no intention of quitting hockey this season. . . . Says he's in good shape and ready to go. . . . First workout for the Pioneers was held at Houghton Sunday. . . . And Mark Olson says his brother Ted, now employed and residing at Bay City, will definitely be back for the league all-star game. . . . He'll help the Hawks a lot.

One Upper Peninsula high school basketball coach has no worries about rebuilding from last year. . . . That's John Gaffney of Houghton. . . . He lost only one regular from his varsity squad and has nine—that's right, nine—returning veteran lettermen. . . . Houghton lost to Wakefield by three points in the U. P. finals last season in Class C.

When Green Bay West defeated Green Bay East 13-6 last weekend it marked the 32nd straight game without a defeat for the West Wildcats. . . . There have been two ties in that string.

Jim Nyquist, former Escanaba athletic star, played 60 minutes of football for Michigan Tech Saturday as the Huskies closed their season with an 18-15 victory over St. Cloud, Minn. . . . The game closed out Nyquist's four-year football career with Michigan Tech.

Bevo Francis and his Boston Whirlwinds drew a 2,500 crowd in their recent appearance at Ironwood. . . . Although the cage show was a financial success, Bevo was a disappointment to the Gogebic Range fans. . . . He scored only six points.

Bob Corson of Manistique, a leading candidate for All-U. P. center this year, has played 25 straight games without substitution for Coach Dick Bonifas as an offensive center. . . . And 17 straight as a defensive linebacker. . . . This season he attempted 13 extra point kicks and clicked on 12 of them in the last five games.

Loren Wall of Menominee was one of six right halfbacks to see action as Michigan State's Spartans roared over Washington State, 54-6. . . . And Bob Gingrass of Iron Mountain, although he didn't start, looked impressive as Wisconsin defeated Northwestern 34-13. . . . So far this year Gingrass has carried the ball 17 times for 63 yards, scored one touchdown and one extra point, passed once for a completion, returned one kickoff 10 yards and punted nine times for 363 yards.

Florian Helinski of Hurley, whose terrific passing led Indiana to an upset 13-9 victory over Michigan a week ago, didn't fare so well against Miami of Ohio last Saturday. . . . Helinski had three passes intercepted and was a butter-finger as the Hoosiers fumbled the ball away six times while losing 6-0. . . . Helinski completed only two of 15 aeriels.

Grid Writers Give Nod To Wolverines

By JOHN BARBOUR

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Michigan is almost sure to be a favorite over Michigan State when the two teams meet in their important intrastate football battle Saturday at Ann Arbor, but coach Bennie Oosterbaan isn't sure.

"We're not a good team and I'm surprised to find us as high in the Big Ten standings as we are," he said.

Nevertheless a Football Writers Assn. luncheon yesterday voted Michigan the edge, 14-3.

Oosterbaan has to piece together a working combination from injured players.

Bates May Play

First string center Jim Bates, reported to have had glandular fever, came out of the hospital and worked out with the squad. Oosterbaan said it was possible that Bates might see limited action.

Tom Meantz, sophomore end, was given assurance that he had no serious trouble with his injured back. X-rays were negative. Meantz, however, still has a stiff back.

Fullback Fred Haer, his face a mass of bandages and stitches, probably will be ready. Baer also pulled a thigh muscle last week-end against Illinois and is wearing bandages on both legs, one arm and a shoulder.

Branoff Still Out

End Jerry Williams and right

halfback Tony Branoff will still be out of play, Oosterbaan said, yesterday an operation on Tony's knee was called successful.

Dr. Carl Badgley, who performed the operation, said Branoff should be as good as ever next fall. It was the second time that Oosterbaan had to cut open on Branoff, both times to remove torn bits of cartilage.

Baer's injuries were unique. The 185-pound senior from LaGrange, Ill., wore bandages from the top of his blond crewcut down his entire body. He had eight stitches on his ear, five on his nose, a black eye and cut lips.

Coach Feels Tar Heels Might Surprise Irish

By REESE HART

CHAPEL HILL, N. C. (AP)—North Carolina coach George Barclay regards Notre Dame as two or three touchdowns better than North Carolina but figures his Tar Heels stand a good chance of upending the once-beaten Irish Saturday at South Bend, Ind.

"Our kids are up," said Barclay. "Our offense is beginning to jell. Notre Dame seems to be two or three touchdowns better but we stand a good chance of winning. Team spirit is good; we're getting better quarterbacking than we did earlier in the season."

A scouting report from asst. coach Steve Belichick, who watched Notre Dame against Pennsylvania, Navy and Pittsburgh, said the Fighting Irish have a great offensive team and a good defense. He had praise for quarterback Ralph Guglielmi, terming him a great passer and outstanding defensive man. In the line, he singled out end Dan Shannon as one of the pillars of strength in the defense.

The Tar Heels were on the brink of defeat last Saturday when they swept 58 yards for a touchdown behind the great running of fullback Don Knoch with less than three minutes remaining to edge South Carolina, 21-19.

Knoch, a 218-pound sophomore, rolled up 124 yards in 12 carries. The Tar Heels have a season record of three victories, three losses and a tie with Tulane. Notre Dame's only loss was to Purdue 27-14. The Irish have beaten Texas, Pittsburgh, Michigan State, Navy and Pennsylvania.

The Irish have won all five previous games with North Carolina. The score in both 1953 and 1952 was 34-14.

Quinn Named End On Great Lakes All-Conference Team

MUNISING — The Gladstone Braves, 1954 champions of the Great Lakes Conference, landed only one player on the all-senior, all-conference team which was announced at the annual fall meeting here last night.

John Quinn, 6-foot-3 end, was the lone member of Coach Don Pfotenbauer's Braves to make the team which was selected by conference coaches. The selections were made on an all-opponent basis, with coaches naming only players of other teams in the conference.

Manistique and Sault Ste. Marie dominated the conference team with three players each. The Newberry Indians landed two and Munising and Negaunee one each. Ishpeming failed to land a player on the squad.

Manistique players who were awarded all-conference berths were halfback Bill Holm, center Bob Corson and tackle Alroy Mersnick.

Soo Lands Three

Soo placed guard Kevin West, back Ron Bentley and end Daryl McGill on the honor squad. Newberry landed tackle Bob Wills and back John Puckett while Negaunee was represented by guard David Harju and Munising by back Frank Hamilla.

Quinn, a sure-fingered flanker who operated at left end on offense and defense, tips the scales at 170 pounds and is a senior. Strong hands, speed and good timing made him the No. 1 target for passes in the conference. He latched onto 20 Gladstone aeriels which produced seven touchdowns, four of them against conference competition.

Corson, 6-1 and 186 pounds, leads the Manistique trio on the all-conference team. A center on offense and linebacker on defense, Corson has played in 25 straight ball games on offense without substitution. He also appeared without substitution in the last 17 Manistique games on defense.

Holm is a 5-10, 185-pound left halfback and safetyman for the Emeralds. A "marked man" in the Manistique backfield, Holm is a three-year letterman and one of the conference's hardest runners. He scored 35 points this season and against Stephenson got off a

JOHN QUINN

Joe Perry Takes Over Pro Grid Scoring Lead

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Joe Perry has replaced his injured teammate, Hugh McElhenry, as the top ground gainer, and Philadelphia's Bobby Thomson is challenging the Norman Van Brocklin for passing honors, the latest National Football League statistics disclosed today.

Perry, defending ground gaining champion, has gained 570 yards in 85 attempts for an average of 6.7 yards per carry. Paul Younger, Los Angeles Rams' ball carrying ace, is second with 523 yards on 87 efforts for a six yard average.

McElhenry, who suffered a shoulder separation last week and probably is out for the season, held third place with his eight yard average compiled on 515 yards gained in 64 runs.

Van Brocklin, who connected with 16 of 18 passes to help the Rams defeat San Francisco Sunday, held on to his passing lead with a 10.9 per pass average. The Rams star has thrown 162, completed 94 for 1,791 yards and 9 touchdowns. Thomson ousted Otto Graham from second place on an 8.7 average compiled on 52 completions for 97 passes, 852 yards gained and 9 tds. Graham is third with 83 of 136 for 1,138 yards, 10 tds and an 8.4 average.

Other leaders: Billy Wilson of San Francisco top pass receiver with 37 caught for 513 yards. Bobby Walston of the Eagles, who has scored 79 points — 8 tds, 25 conversions and 2 field goals.

95-yard run from scrimmage. He was used often as a decoy and blocker this season.

Mersnick alternated at left tackle on offense and left end on defense. At 5-9 and 180 Mersnick was the fastest man on the Manistique squad and the best offensive blocker. He played regular for the Emeralds for two years.

Relegated to the honorable mention list was Gladstone's great running fullback Tom Brewer. Brewer led the Braves to their five straight conference victories and the championship with his power and speed from the fullback position.

Brewer piled up a tremendous total of 620 yards in his five con-

Army Team Tops In Statistics

NEW YORK (AP)—Not even the Army team of the Blanchard-Davis era outclassed their opposition by as big a statistical margin as the present Cadets, official NCAA Service Bureau Figures showed today.

No. 1 in total offense and in rushing offense, Army's average gain of 43.4 yards a game is 57.8 yards a game better than runnerup Mississippi's 39.5.

The West Point average was improved by a 499-yard performance against previously unbeaten Yale last Saturday. The Elis went against Army with the best rushing defense mark in the country, 62.2 yards a game. Army passed that average on its first play—a 64-yard touchdown run by Tommy Bell.

That's typical of how Army has operated all year. Eleven times it has gone a third of the field or more — 33 yards — for a touchdown.

Army has more total offense yardage in seven games than the No. 2 team has in eight, 3,174 to Mississippi's 3,165. The Cadets' bulge is more modest in rushing, 329.9 to 307.1 for UCLA and 306 for Colorado.

UCLA is tops in scoring, averaging 41.6 points a game. Army is second with 38.6 followed by Arizona 38.3.

UCLA took a hand in the passing race, knocking Oregon out of first place by holding George Shaw and his mates to 47 yards on four completions in 15 tries.

That let Purdue take the lead as it raised its yardage per game to 187.9. California is second with 177.6 and Mississippi third with 167.6.

Purdue also has the most touchdowns passes, 14.

Unbeaten List Of State Preps Pared

(By The Associated Press)

The list of Michigan's unbeaten-tinted high school football teams has been cut to 25, only two in class A.

Grosse Pointe completed its greatest season in history by walling Port Huron 56-12 for its eighth straight victory without a setback.

Dearborn 8-0 faces one of its toughest tests Friday in Dearborn Fordson, an oral rival.

Among teams knocked from the all-winning list last weekend were Detroit Mumford, Ecorse St. Francis Xavier, Flint Tech and Bad Axe.

There is one match involving unbeaten-untied teams this week. It pits Redford St. Mary against Detroit St. Anthony for the Detroit Catholic City title.

For the entire season Brewer gained 810 yards, an average of just over 100 yards per contest, including the Stephenson game in which he was used only briefly and carried four times.

Escanaba Application

Other Gladstone players receiving honorable mention were scabback Jim Bratonia, guard Dick Ryan and tackle Larry Feldt. On the honorable mention list from the Manistique team were fullback Don Anderson and guard Ed Busch.

The all-conference selections were announced by Harold Bruce, Sault Ste. Marie High School principal who is commissioner of the Great Lakes Conference.

Among other conference matters discussed at the meeting was the application of Escanaba High School for membership. Bruce declined to announce the disposition of the application, stating that the announcement will be made at a later date.

U. S. Cagers Sweep Most Tourney Honors

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP)—The Peoria Caterpillars not only won the World Basketball championship last week but swept most of the individual honors when three members were named to the World All-Star team Tuesday.

The three were Joe Stratton, Jim Minter and Bill Johnson. Stratton was singled out as the best all-around player in the 14-nation tournament.

The other two members of the first team were Uruguay's Oscar Moglia and Brazil's Zenny de Azevedo.

The selections were made by the newspaper Tribuna de Imprensa.

Spartan Sidelines

By ROBERT E. VOGES

EAST LANSING (AP)—The recent history of the Michigan-Michigan State game scores is a perfect example of the rise of one football power at the expense of another.

Right after the war, when the two schools skipped competition for two years, Michigan was at its height of the modern era.

The Wolverines won 40-0 in 1945 and 55-7 in 1946. Then Biggie Munn became MSC head coach in 1947. The 55-0 whipping he took in his opening game was the widest margin since Michigan won 63-0 in 1922.

Munn began whittling away at the U. M. margins as the Spartans started grabbing for gridiron glory. Michigan won 13-7 in 1948 and by an even narrower 7-3 edge in 1949.

Then in 1950, the Michigan State campus erupted into happy hysteria as MSC measured Michigan 14-7 for the first Spartan victory since 1939.

Michigan State was at the height of its power in 1951, winning 25-0.

Many of the customers were filling out of Macklin Stadium last Saturday after they had watched Michigan State roll up a half dozen touchdowns against Washington State.

So many spectators missed—and probably would not understand why the MSC bench, players and coaches alike, cheered with wild NYQUIST CAPTAIN — Jim Nyquist, former Escanaba High School athlete, has been named honorary co-captain with Ed Bishop of L'Anse de the Michigan Tech Huskies. Selection was made by teammates. Nyquist is a four-letterman in football at Michigan Tech. This season he played 410 of a possible 420 minutes in the Huskie line. The son of Mr. and Mrs. John Nyquist, 1410 N. 22nd St., will receive his degree in civil engineering. Jim is a member of the Tech Varsity Club and College ROTC unit.

Escanaba Golf Club To Hold Membership Drive

Placing into effect a reduction of dues in all membership classifications for 1955, the board of directors of the Escanaba Golf Club announced this morning that a sustained membership drive would get underway immediately.

These decisions were made at a board meeting in the Elks Club last night at which time Paul A. Wohlen, newly elected president, reported the following committee chairmen appointments:

Finance, E. G. Bennett, Juel Lee; membership, Fred Pollak; grounds, George Douglas, M. L. Council; house, Dr. K. F. Harrington; entertainment, Russell Lee; rules and etiquette, James R. Fitzharris, and sports, James G. Ward Jr.

Jim McNicoll, who made such a hit in his first season as professional here, will serve the club again next summer, and with the same efficient staff returning and a reduction of dues, the board predicts a large membership and a successful season in 1955.

The new rate schedule providing a substantial decrease from 1954 dues follows: Regular family (over 30 years of age), $50; regular single (over 30), $35; social (non-playing) $30; junior family (under 30 years of age), $30; junior single (under 30) $25. These rates do not include Federal Tax.

A membership "kick-off" party will be held in January 1955, it was announced. All present members are urged to give Pollak, membership chairman, the names of all prospective members.

Trade Players In Pro Hockey

NEW YORK (AP)—In a move to rectify what president Clarence Campbell calls the "unlighted self-interest" that has made perennial losers of certain clubs, National Hockey League owners Tuesday approved three player trades designed to bolster weaker clubs.

One of the deals sent center Metro Prystai, 27-year-old Yorkton, Sask., native who once scored 51 points in an NHL season, from the Detroit Red Wings to the Chicago Black Hawks, with whom he played before being traded to Detroit four years ago.

The Black Hawks, who finished in the cellar last season and now are in fifth place, also acquired center Paul Masnick from the Montreal Canadiens for a player to be named later.

The other trade sent defenseman Leo Boivin from the Toronto Maple Leafs to the last-place Boston Bruins for veteran Joe Klukay, who was with the Leafs for six seasons before being sent to Boston in 1952.

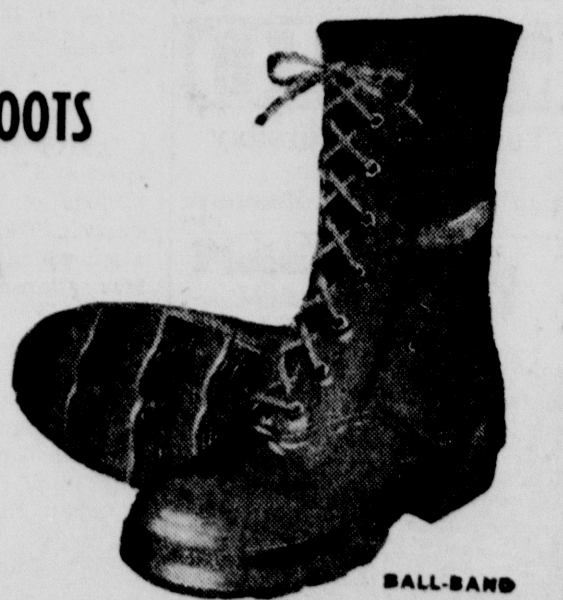

In return for Prystai, the Stanley Cup champion Red Wings will get forward Lorne Davis, 23-year-old native of Regina, who was traded to Chicago earlier this year by the Canadiens.

State Loses Out On Liquor Gifts

LANSING (AP)—Aud. Gen. John B. Martin reported that 36,000 bottles of liquor were given away free in Michigan in the past fiscal year by liquor salesmen.

Martin estimated the state is losing $42,240 in liquor revenue on the 3,000 cases of free liquor.

He made the report at the request of the legislative Audit and Appropriations Committee.

Martin said during one convention, the National Alcoholic Beverage Control Assn. in Detroit last April, 136 cases of liquor were distributed free, apparently in addition to salesmen's regular sample allotments.

The Legislature, Martin said, "may have an interest in the question of who receives such free distribution."

Prior to last November, Martin reported, salesmen paid the state either the cost of the liquor or the usual 44 per cent state markup.

Since that time, he said, the commission has refused to permit salesmen to withdraw samples from liquor warehouses, but has permitted them to ship in samples direct. The state now charges only the three per cent sales tax for this privilege, he said.

During the period when the state charged salesmen the 44 per cent markup, Martin said, the distribution of free samples dropped from about 7,300 cases to less than 1,200 a year.

The highest number of samples listed by one distillery Jos. Seagram and Sons was 194 last year, Martin said. One salesman who represents more than one company gave away as much as 471 bottles.

New School Voted

EDMORE (AP)—Voters in the Edmore Agricultural School District have approved a $175,000 bond issue to build a new school. They approved a special tax of 10 mills for 13 years by a vote of 307 to 42.

UNWRITTEN LAWS

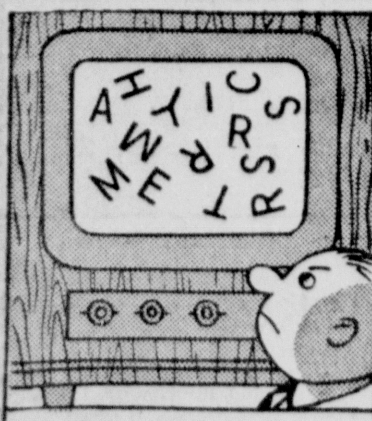

Motorists expect "pedestrian trouble" at intersections—caught off guard when one pops up in the middle of the block.

Most pedestrians know they should cross at intersections, especially where painted crosswalks are placed for their protection. But, when coming out of a store in the middle of a block, with the next store to be visited directly across the street, down to the intersection and back looks like an awfully long detour.

Make allowance for human nature. Be on the lookout for occasional pedestrian violators who cross in the middle of the block. Ignoring pedestrian errors can be as fatal as ignoring motorist errors.
